Home Seekers' Would Go To Fair Street Location

Savings Loan Group Makes Request To State Bank Office to Move Office

Home Seekers' Savings and Loan Association today applied to the State Superintendent of Banks for permission to move its main office from 10 Broadway to 233-235 Fair street, it was revealed by Henry J. Wieber, president.

If approval is granted, the association plans to erect a modern, two-story building, with drive-in window and customer parking facilities, at the uptown location, Wieber said. There will be access to both Fair and Pearl streets.

It is planned to sell the present Home Seekers' building, located downtown at Broadway and Strand.

AN OPTION to purchase the Fair street property, contingent upon approval of the state banking authorities, has been negotiated with the present owner, the Freeman Publishing Company. The option includes both the present parking lot, upon which the new banking house will be erected, and the adjoining Freeman building at 237-239 Fair street, which is used by The Freeman as its uptown branch office. Other occupants of that building are the Western Union Telegraph Company and the Moran-Spencerian Business School.

The pending transaction is not expected to affect present leaseholders in the Freeman building.

THE FREEMAN will continue to maintain its uptown branch office at its present location, the proposed sale of the building being made subject to a five-year lease, renewable for another five years.

Preliminary plans for Home Seekers' proposed new office are being drawn by Architect Harry Halverson.

If state banking department authorities grant permission for the proposed change, Home Seekers' will take title to the entire uptown parcel now owned by the Freeman Company. It may later resell the portion which contains the present Freeman building, together with a 10-foot driveway and the parking area behind the building.

HOME SEEKERS' Savings and Loan Association was founded in 1889. It acquired its present building at 10 Broadway in 1944. That building formerly was the banking house of the First National Bank of Rondout. In 1951, Home Seekers' opened a branch office on central Broadway near O'Neil street, which it plans to maintain.

If the proposed move is approved, it will leave the Rondout Savings Bank as the sole remaining financial institution in the Rondout section of Kingston, which once contained four such institutions. The First National Bank of Rondout went into voluntary liquidation some years ago, and about two years ago the Rondout National Bank moved from the Strand to a central location at Broadway and Henry street.

Requests Chiang To Quit Islands

London, March 8 (AP)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden today called on Chiang Kai-shek to withdraw his Nationalist armed forces from the coastal islands off China.

Giving the House of Commons a report on his Bangkok meeting with U. S. Secretary of State Dulles and tour of southeast Asia, Eden praised both the United States and Chinese Communists for relaxing tension over Formosa.

HOWEVER, he said sounding out Peiping on a cease-fire had led him to "come reluctantly to the conclusion that the necessary conditions for progress do not yet exist."

"The U. S. government have already given positive proofs of their desire to relax tension and reduce the risks of war," Eden said. "I am convinced that they wish to see conditions created which would put an end to active military hostilities in the area and reduce the dangers of a wider conflict.

"THEY HAVE effectively restrained the Chinese Nationalists in recent weks from initiating attacks against the Chinese mainland. They have persuaded the Nationalists to evacuate the Tachen and Nanchi islands."

As for the Chinese Communists, Eden said "for their part they have refrained from attacking Quemoy and the Matsus." He expressed hope "they will continue to exercise this restraint and that they will make it apparent that, while maintaining intact in all respects their position in regard to Formosa and the Pescadores, they will not prosecute their claims by forceful means."

No Bluff, Is Dulles View On China

Expects Move Against Islands

Washington, March 8 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles was described today as believing the Chinese Communists are not bluffing and will shortly make some military move against Nationalist-held islands opposite Formosa.

The secretary, who returned Sunday from a trip to the Far East, had plenty of opportunity today to outline such a view, either at secret briefings to congressional committees or in a report tonight to the nation.

HE IS MAKING a day of it: The Senate Foreign Relations Committee in the morning, the House Foreign Affairs Committee in the afternoon, and national radio-television networks tonight (various times).

The recorded half-hour talk will be carried over radio by CBS (10 p. m.), ABC (10:30 p. m.), and MBS (11:30 p. m.). A film will be televised over Columbia (11:15 p. m.).

In advance of the congressional briefings, officials who have talked with the secretary said Dulles appeared convinced the Chinese Communists would make some move toward carrying out their threats to attack Formosa.

He was represented as feeling that military action against coastal islands probably would be coupled with subversion efforts directed at Chiang Kai-shek's Formosa refuge and its outposts.

DULLES WAS SAID to be unwilling, even in private conversations, to spell out American intentions with regard to the defense of the Nationalist-held islands of Quemoy and Matsu, just off the Red mainland opposite Formosa.

Dulles and President Eisenhower have said Quemoy and Matsu will be defended if attacked by Red China in an obvious drive to conquer Formosa.

Chairman Richards (D.-S.C.) of the House Foreign Affairs Committee called two weeks ago for a public announcement of U. S. intentions toward the islands and said secret testimony convinced him a decision

Panel Held On Issue of Delinquent

Probation Work Load Discussed

The importance of adequate probation facilities in the handling of youthful offenders was emphasized during a panel discussion of juvenile delinquency last night at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Approximately 100 persons attended the meeting sponsored by the Junior League of Kingston.

It was pointed out that Ulster county had only one probation officer with an enormous probation load which greatly reduced his effectiveness. The importance of additional staff, "crew to man the ship," was cited by several of the speakers.

ONE OF THE PANEL members pointed out that a state aid program was in existence which could greatly reduce the local financial burden. For only $1,050 more in local appropriation the county could have a chief probation officer and two assisting probation officers.

The present appropriation by the Ulster County Board of Supervisors amounts to $8,550, providing for a chief probation officer but the latter position, for which $3,500 has been appropriated, has not been filled.

For $9,600, plus $4,200 in state aid, the department could be increased to three probation officers, it was explained by William Smith, district probation examiner.

Thomas Bohan, executive secretary of the Ulster County Civil Service Commission, said he had received six "qualified" applications for the examination to fill the position of probation officer. The examination will be held in the near future.

PARTICIPATING as members of the panel, moderated by District Attorney Howard C. St. John, were Smith, Attorney S. James Matthews, Harry Edson and Chief Probation Officer Edmund Burhans. Members of the audience participated freely during the question and answer period.

St. John opened the meeting with the observation that crime confronts "all of us," both morally and financially, was no respecter of social or economic strata and cost $495 per family each year.

He introduced Probation Examiner Smith who pointed out the importance of an adequate probation department, described

Economist Sees Boom, Bust Cycle

Galbraith Pleads For Safeguards

Washington, March 8 (AP)—Harvard economist John K. Galbraith said today the United States may be in the early stages of a boom-and -bust cycle that could end in a 1929-style crash.

Galbraith told the Senate Banking Committee there are "formidable safeguards" against another such crash. But he spoke in his prepared testimony of "resemblance" between conditions in the late 1920s and today that he said "are certainly interesting and possibly disturbing."

He urged that the government and Wall Street be ready to halt credit buying of stocks and to put on other emergency brakes if the year-and-a-half-old bull market shows no sign of slackening in the near future.

THE COMMITTEE called Galbraith and Harold E. Wood of St. Paul, Minn., president of the National Assn. of Securities Dealers, in its "friendly study" of the stock market in the light of the stock price rise.

Galbraith voiced agreement with stock exchange presidents who testified earlier that the the American economy is far stronger than in 1929. He agreed, too, there are safeguards against a new crash, among them curbs on "wholesale market rigging and fervent salesmanship."

But he cautioned that "the fundamental problem of containing a speculative orgy, once it is well-balanced remains essentially unsolved."

GALBRAITH, who has written a soon-to-be-published book on the "29 financial debacle, saw such danger signs in the current stock boom as increased credit buying, an influx of newcomers into the market and a growing gap between the sale price and the book value of shares.

"The fact that the present boom may be in only a relatively incipient stage should not accordingly be a reason for advocating inaction," he said. "If it weren't incipient, nothing much would or could be done."

GALBRAITH OFFERED these specific recommendations:

1. "Should there be a resumption of the upward movement of the past year in the weeks or months ahead, the Federal Reserve should be pressed to put

Aldermen Will Get Bid for Fill

Cost for Project Estimated $33,617

A request for funds and the purchase of land in the Fifth Ward for a landfill project was adopted by the Board of Public Works at a special meeting Monday afternoon and will be transmitted to the Common Council at a recessed meeting tonight.

The BPW action was necessary to prepare formal documents for the council meeting so that the project may be voted upon. The issue has become highly controversial, with the council's five Democratic aldermen expected to line up with Fifth Ward Alderman Samuel Perry (R) in voting against the proposal.

In city hall circles this morning, there was speculation that the Common Council may not bring the matter to a vote tonight, but might adjourn for a week.

Cost of preparation of the landfill area and operation of the project for the balance of the year has been estimated at $33,617, according to the proposals sent to each alderman following Monday's special BPW meeting.

OF THE TOTAL, $25,950 would be required for preparation of the area, including such work as clearing, grubbing, filling and grading, erection of fence and buildings, landscaping, and purchase of bull-dozing equipment. Largest item of cost is the purchase of the bull-dozing shovel at $17,190, which coincides with the low bid of the Caterpillar Tractor Company.

Cost of operating the project for the balance of 1955 has been placed at $7,667, including wages of two equipment operators, one to haul cover material and the other to load cover material.

IN A LETTER accompanying the BPW's reclamation plan, Mayor Stang pointed out to the aldermen that the Wilbur avenue waste disposal area is rapid-

Catholics Study Need for Parish

Establishment of a parish in the town of Ulster or at some point between Kingston and Saugerties is being considered by Catholic representatives, it became known recently. Need for a church north of Kingston to serve those of the area has been seen for some time and a study of the potential membership of such a parish has been made with the view of locating the church near the center of population.

Recently church representatives visited the locality in conjunction with New York church officials and it is understood a proposed site was discussed. However a prominent member of the local clergy stated the establishment of a parish north of Kingston was a "project for the future" but was being given consideration at this time to ascertain needs and requirements.

Esopus Residents To Vote on Issue

Qualified voters of four Port Ewen area school districts in the town of Esopus will meet at 7:30 o'clock tonight to decide upon a proposal to consolidate as a common school district.

The districts involved are No. 1, Anderson District; No. 12, New Salem; No. 13, Port Ewen, and No. 15, Port Ewen. If approved, the consolidation is the first step toward the erection of a Kindergarten through Grade 6 school in Port Ewen.

The meeting will be called to order at 7:30 p. m. at the Esopus town hall in Port Ewen. Voting will follow, with the exact hours to be set by those attending the meeting.

76 Rejoin Ship

New York, March 8 (AP)—Seventy-six crewmen of 300 who walked off the luxury liner Queen of Bermuda Saturday flew today to rejoin their ship at Bermuda. The Queen's owners reported yesterday that about 100 of the strikers had accepted a company offer to be reinstated in their jobs.

Delayed Report

A delayed accident report was received by Kingston police at 8 p. m. Monday from George N. Guldy of 22 Broadway, who said his automobile struck and damaged several guard rail posts along East Chester street bypass near the Martin-Moran garage about 7:45 a. m. that day, police reported. No personal injury was listed.

Mayor Proclaims Red Cross Month

Mayor Frederick H. Stang today proclaimed the month of March Red Cross Month and urged all local residents to contribute to and enroll for active membership in the American Red Cross.

The mayor declared that "by reason of its origin, its official status, its record of accomplishments and the humanitarian purposes that it serves, the American National Red Cross must continue to have the support of all the American people."

For more than 70 years, the United States government has participated with other governments in international treaties which fix the responsibility for providing comfort and relief to sick and wounded members of the armed forces, Mayor Stang pointed out. The Red Cross has been adopted as the protective symbol under which these purposes shall be achieved.

The treaties envisioned the need for establishing in each participating country a volunteer organization to assist the government in carrying out its obligations, and in this country the American National Red Cross has been created as that organization.

The American Red Cross, said the mayor, has "strengthened the nation by saving lives, salvaging hopes and preserving human dignity," through services to armed forces, relief to disaster victims, blood program, junior Red Cross activities, first aid and water safety endeavors.

Major Is Acquitted on Charges He Aided Enemy While Held as Prisoner of War

Ft. Sill, Okla., March 8 (AP)—Maj. Ambrose H. Nugent, whose army career was interrupted for 38 months as a prisoner of war in Korea and seven weeks as a defendant in a collaboration trial, today was free to return to his first love—the field artillery.

Nugent, charged with aiding the enemy while a Red prisoner was acquitted on nine specifications late yesterday by a general military court-martial board of nine colonels, seven of whom were Korean veterans.

The sudden climax, which came after the board deliberated just over two hours, followed a seven-week trial—longest in U. S. military history.

More than one million words were recorded as 47 witnesses testified for both sides. It was estimated it cost the government more than $100,000 for the trial of the Merrill, Wis., officer.

There have been four other POWs tried and all have been convicted.

Nugent, after being informed of the verdict by the president of the board, broke into a big smile and a handful of spectators rushed to congratulate him.

Nugent, who began his army career with the Wisconsin National Guard 24 years ago and for the past 14 years has served continuously, said his acquittal was a vindication of military justice. Nugent told a newsman after the trial:

"I want to take a short leave for a physical checkup and have my teeth fixed and then I want to resume my career in the army."

The graying, bespectacled officer, who celebrated his 45th birthday in the courtroom last month, was accused of collaborating by making propaganda speeches, forming peace committees, signing and circulating documents detrimental to his country, offering aid to the enemy and foiling escape plans. Nugent based his defense on the facts he was subjected to duress, followed orders of his superior and that he acted always for the welfare of his men.

Each of the counts could have brought as much as a life sentence.

The charges were based on the period between June 5, 1950, when he was captured at the start of the Korean hostilities, through the next summer when he was moved as a peace delegate to Camp No. 12. It was there that the army had accused him of making propaganda speeches and signing surrender leaflets.

During that period Nugent testified he lost more than 100 pounds from his original weight of 215 pounds because of maltreatment.

Nugent shied away from comparing his trial with conviction verdicts of the other four.

"Each case was tried on its own merits," he said. "I have served on courts-martial before as a soldier and officer. I know how it is."

GOP Joins in Action By Civil Service Group

Albany, March 8 (AP)—Republican legislators have joined the Civil Service Employes Assn. in condemning a questionnaire distributed by Gov. Harriman's investigations commissioner among employes of the State Liquor Authority.

Democratic legislators reply that former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's investigators have used similar techniques.

GOP lawmakers in both Houses last night accused the commissioner, J. Irwin Shapiro, of pressing a "political inquisition" among SLA workers in quizzing them about their personal and financial affairs.

JOHN H. COOKE, of Alden, chairman of the Senate Civil Service Committee, led the attack in his House. He declared the information Shapiro's office was seeking "goes to the root of our very existence in this state."

And in the Assembly, the GOP majority leader, Joseph F. Carlino, called the quiz "wholly unnecessary." He said he hoped it would be modified.

Critics of the questionnaire, which was distributed to about 20 employes in connection with an inquiry into the SLA, took special exception to one section of the document.

That section asks that the investigations commissioner be granted power of attorney to examine the employe's state income tax returns for 1949 through 1954.

Democrats responded that the questions asked were not unlike some used in investigations carried out during the administration of former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey. Eugene F. Bannigan, Democratic minority leader in the Assembly, said that New York city Democratic leaders had, without protest, filled out similar detailed questionnaires for the State Crime Commission.

The verbal tussle over the questionnaire came as an overture to an even bigger clash scheduled for the Senate and Assembly floors today.

Republicans prepared to override Democratic protests and pass bills embodying a $1,327,200,000 state budget for the fiscal year beginning April 1.

The amount was $17,556,423 less than Harriman's proposed spending program for 1955-56. And it lacked provisions for a $17,200,000 boost in corporation taxes, for which Harriman had called.

The Senate was expected today also to give final passage to a bill ensuring local govern-

Savings Loan Group Makes Request To State Bank Office to Move Office

Home Seekers' Savings and Loan Association today applied to the State Superintendent of Banks for permission to move its main office from 10 Broadway to 233-235 Fair street, it was revealed by Henry J. Wieber, president.

If approval is granted, the association plans to erect a modern, two-story building, with drive-in window and customer parking facilities, at the uptown location, Wieber said. There will be access to both Fair and Pearl streets.

It is planned to sell the present Home Seekers' building, located downtown at Broadway and Strand.

Major Is Acquitted on Charges He Aided Enemy While Held as Prisoner of War

Ft. Sill, Okla., March 8 (AP)—Maj. Ambrose H. Nugent, whose army career was interrupted for 38 months as a prisoner of war in Korea and seven weeks as a defendant in a collaboration trial, today was free to return to his first love—the field artillery.

Nugent, charged with aiding the enemy while a Red prisoner was acquitted on nine specifications late yesterday by a general military court-martial board of nine colonels, seven of whom were Korean veterans.

The sudden climax, which came after the board deliberated just over two hours, followed a seven-week trial—longest in U. S. military history.

More than one million words were recorded as 47 witnesses testified for both sides. It was estimated it cost the government more than $100,000 for the trial of the Merrill, Wis., officer.

There have been four other POWs tried and all have been convicted.

Nugent, after being informed of the verdict by the president of the board, broke into a big smile and a handful of spectators rushed to congratulate him.

Nugent, who began his army career with the Wisconsin National Guard 24 years ago and for the past 14 years has served continuously, said his acquittal was a vindication of military justice. Nugent told a newsman after the trial:

"I want to take a short leave for a physical checkup and have my teeth fixed and then I want to resume my career in the army."

The graying, bespectacled officer, who celebrated his 45th birthday in the courtroom last month, was accused of collaborating by making propaganda speeches, forming peace committees, signing and circulating documents detrimental to his country, offering aid to the enemy and foiling escape plans. Nugent based his defense on the facts he was subjected to duress, followed orders of his superior and that he acted always for the welfare of his men.

Each of the counts could have brought as much as a life sentence."

The charges were based on the period between June 5, 1950, when he was captured at the start of the Korean hostilities, through the next summer when he was moved as a peace delegate to Camp No. 12. It was there that the army had accused him of making propaganda speeches and signing surrender leaflets.

During that period Nugent testified he lost more than 100 pounds from his original weight of 215 pounds because of maltreatment.

Nugent shied away from comparing his trial with conviction verdicts of the other four.

"Each case was tried on its own merits," he said. "I have served on courts-martial before as a soldier and officer. I know how it is."

Mayor Proclaims Red Cross Month

Mayor Frederick H. Stang today proclaimed the month of March Red Cross Month and urged all local residents to contribute to and enroll for active membership in the American Red Cross.

The mayor declared that "by reason of its origin, its official status, its record of accomplishments and the humanitarian purposes that it serves, the American National Red Cross must continue to have the support of all the American people."

For more than 70 years, the United States government has participated with other governments in international treaties which fix the responsibility for providing comfort and relief to sick and wounded members of the armed forces, Mayor Stang pointed out. The Red Cross has been adopted as the protective symbol under which these purposes shall be achieved.

The treaties envisioned the need for establishing in each participating country a volunteer organization to assist the government in carrying out its obligations, and in this country the American National Red Cross has been created as that organization.

The American Red Cross, said the mayor, has "strengthened the nation by saving lives, salvaging hopes and preserving human dignity," through services to armed forces, relief to disaster victims, blood program, junior Red Cross activities, first aid and water safety endeavors.

GOP Joins in Action By Civil Service Group

Albany, March 8 (AP)—Republican legislators have joined the Civil Service Employes' Assn. in condemning a questionnaire distributed by Gov. Harriman's investigations commissioner among employes of the State Liquor Authority.

Democratic legislators reply that former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's investigators have used similar techniques.

GOP lawmakers in both Houses last night accused the commissioner, J. Irwin Shapiro, of pressing a "political inquisition" among SLA workers in quizzing them about their personal and financial affairs.

JOHN H. COOKE, of Alden, chairman of the Senate Civil Service Committee, led the attack in his House. He declared the information Shapiro's office was seeking "goes to the root of our very existence in this state."

And in the Assembly, the GOP majority leader, Joseph F. Carlino, called the quiz "wholly unnecessary." He said he hoped it would be modified.

Critics of the questionnaire, which was distributed to about 20 employes in connection with an inquiry into the SLA, took special exception to one section of the document.

That section asks that the investigations commissioner be granted power of attorney to examine the employe's state income tax returns for 1949 through 1954.

Democrats responded that the questions asked were not unlike some used in investigations carried out during the administration of former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey. Eugene F. Bannigan, Democratic minority leader in the Assembly, said that New York city Democratic leaders had, without protest, filled out similar detailed questionnaires for the State Crime Commission.

The verbal tussle over the questionnaire came as an overture to an even bigger clash scheduled for the Senate and Assembly floors today.

Republicans prepared to override Democratic protests and pass bills embodying a $1,327,200,000 state budget for the fiscal year beginning April 1.

The amount was $17,556,423 less than Harriman's proposed spending program for 1955-56. And it lacked provisions for a $17,200,000 boost in corporation taxes, for which Harriman had called.

The Senate was expected today also to give final passage to a bill ensuring local govern-

An action for conversion brought by Frieda Knorr against Arthur H. Terwilliger, was also settled. Raymond J. Mino for plaintiff and Cantline, Flanagan and Hunter for defendant.

Following the day calendar call pre-trial conferences were scheduled.

Police Probing Series of Breaks

The theft of a number of battery cases from the Levine junk yard and breaks into a local lumber company office and a grocery store were reported to police this morning.

The reports were received between 6:45 and 9 a. m. today when proprietors opened their places of business.

Evidence of illegal entry was reported at the William C Schryver Lumber Company, 363 Foxhall avenue, and the Henry Schultz grocery at 251 East Chester street. Preliminary investigation indicated nothing was missing at either place, but further investigation is being conducted by Detectives Clarenc Brophy and Frank Sammons.

Pasquel Is Killed

Mexico City, March 8 (AP)—Jorge Pasquel, millionaire Mexican sportsmen who led a spectacular raid on American baseball talent in 1946, died in a plane crash in the mountainous state of San Luis Potoso last night.

Porsch Has Another Birthday

HERMAN PORSCH

Herman Porsch of 90 Broadway, former barge captain, was quietly celebrating his birthday at his home today reminiscing about the old D & H Canal days and boating business in general.

Over 90, but not exactly sure of his age, Porsch was born in a village near Danzig, Germany. As a boy, he came to this country on the sailing ship, Valla, which took 90 days to make the trip from Hamburg, Germany, to New York's Castle Garden. One stop was made at Liverpool, England.

In his younger days, Porsch worked for the D & H Coal Company, then the North River Coal Company and later for the M. & D. Tracey Boating Company in New York.

About a year ago, on March 31, 1954, Porsch suffered an accident which resulted in having to wear a cast on his left ankle.

ments of the power to collect "breakage' on sales and amusement taxes. The measure was passed last night by the Assembly.

In other developments last night:

1. Harriman signed a bill relieving election boards of keeping future enrollment lists for the American Labor Party, which did not poll 50,000 votes for governor last fall.

2. The Senate unanimously approved Harriman's appointment of John I. Snyder Jr., of Scarsdale to the state banking board.

The "breakage" bill would allow localities to round off a collected tax to the next full cent when it came to a figure ending in a fraction of one-half cent or more.

The President of the Civil Service Employes Assn. yesterday charged Shapiro with "unjustified" prying into the personal affairs of SLA workers.

John F. Powers, whose organization claims 54,524 members, said that the questionnaire "suggests a fishing expedition."

"An honest man has nothing to fear from revealing the facts," Shapiro retorted.

Powers' stand won support from Cooke and two other GOP lawmakers, Orin S. Wilcox of Jefferson county, chairman of the Assembly Civil Service Committee, and Fred W. Preller of Queens, chairman of the temporary state commission to revise the Civil Service law.

They said in a statement that Shapiro's office "has ridden roughshod over the constitutional rights and personal integrity and dignity" of SLA employes.

Cooke said later, on the Senate floor, that he did not believe the governor knew "the type of questionnaire" that had been passed out.

He demanded that Harriman "insist upon the withdrawal of this type of questionnaire."

Francis J. Mahoney, Democratic minority leader in the Senate, replied: "I don't think an honest man has a great deal to worry about."

And Sen. Louis L. Friedman, Brooklyn Democrat, contended that Shapiro merely was "trying to find out where that corruption is in the State Liquor Authority."

He recalled that Democrats had clamored for years for a probe of the SLA.

Shapiro has been investigating the authority for several weeks but has declined to comment on the inquiry. Last week, John F. O'Connell, resigned as SLA chairman. In accepting the resignation, Harriman wrote him that Shapiro's investigation "discloses nothing which reflects on your honesty or integrity."

Cooke, Wilcox and Preller said in their statement:

"This (the questionnaire) is not a legislative move in good faith to discover or solve a crime or to prevent unlawful action. It is a political inquisition; it is government by blackjack . . ."

"If the proposal to utilize the swamp area in the Fifth Ward is not approved by the 15th of March, then it will be necessary for me to request your Honorable Body to make immediately available the sum of $4,000 for additional pipe in the Wilbur avenue area, and then further pipe from time to time as the area nears completion," the mayor stated.

Sanger's Two Phones

The Sanger Cabinet concern has two telephone numbers, one of which was inadvertently omitted from a recent ad. The numbers are Kingston 6565 and 3499-M, according to Harry Sanger, who handles kitchen cabinets and store fixtures.

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 8 (AP)—The stock market was pushed down today by a series of moderate selling waves.

In the early afternoon, prices were off 1 to 4 points in many key areas of the list.

Aircrafts were hardest hit by the selling and displayed the widest losses. No major division was able to stand against the lower trend.

Trading stepped up its pace sharply on the fall and maintained a rate above yesterday's 2,630,000 shares changing hands in a falling market.

The Senate Banking Committee in Washington in its study of the stock market heard a witness who said the country may be in the early stages of a boom-and-bust cycle that could end in a 1929-style crash.

At Least One Woman Will Serve

New York, March 8 (AP)—At least one woman will serve on the jury in the second trial of Minot F. (Mickey) Jelke on charges that he induced girls into a life of cafe society vice.

Mrs. Annie Johnson, gray-haired former music teacher who has a married daughter, was seated today as the fourth juror, and the first woman on the trial panel.

She was found acceptable to both sides as the trial entered its second day. Mrs. Johnson is the wife of a retired marine engineer.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Anthony J. Liebler told her that some of the testimony "might be embarrassing to you."

MRS. JOHNSON, a slender, motherly-looking, wearing a gray cloth coat with gray fur collar and a small red hat, replied, "I don't think so."

She also said she would not be embarrassed if she were the only woman chosen for the jury.

George Washington Herz, Jelke's attorney, asked her whether she had any prejudices against the defendant because of the nature of the charge. She said she did not.

SHE ALSO ANSWERED in the negative when Herz asked her whether she would make a "compromise verdict — one you won't believe in, but would agree to for the sake of compromise."

Three married men were seated on the jury on the trial's opening day yesterday and Asst. Dist. Atty. Anthony J. Liebler predicted selection of the full panel would likely take two to three days.

Jelke, heir to an oleomargarine fortune, was convicted on two counts of compulsory prostitution two years ago but won a new trial because the judge had closed the courtroom during the prosecution phase of the trial. Although Judge Francis L. Valente said he took this step to safeguard "public decency and morals," a higher court ruled that his ban against the press and public deprived Jelke of a fair trial.

High Honor . . .

deposed cabinet of former Premier Pierre Mendes-France.

De Beaumont, a lifelong friend of Mrs. Chadbourne, spent several weekends as her guest at Stone Ridge during the autumn of 1954. During his visits here he was keenly interested in the Vanderlyn paintings at the Senate House Museum, at which time he learned that John Vanderlyn, a native of Kingston and a protege of Aaron Burr, had spent long periods in Paris.

In Paris Vanderlyn not only was a student under Vincent, but became a portrait painter of many well-known Americans from the Directory to the early part of the 19th century. Vanderlyn also was awarded a Napoleonic Gold Medal at the Salon of 1808.

WHILE IN NEW YORK de Beaumont was invited to view the panorama of the place and gardens of Versailles, which now is in the process of restoration at the Metropolitan Museum. Because of its huge size, 176 feet long, this work will take about two years.

The panorama, which was stored many years at the Senate House Museum, was given to the Metropolitan about two years ago by the trustees of the Senate House Association, whose property it became under the will of the late Catherine Vanderlyn. Action was taken by the trustees to transfer the panorama to the Metropolitan, because there was insufficient space locally to exhibit the painting, which was deteriorating in storage.

De Beaumont was deeply impressed by the painting, its remarkable draftsmanship, its exquisite coloring and by the artist's whole conception of one of France's greatest monuments.

Returns From Trip

Mustaparta Is To Direct Course

George Murtaparta, personnel manager of the Hercules Powder Company, Port Ewen, will instruct a course in supervisory problems and techniques at the Hudson Junior High School, Hudson, beginning Tuesday, March 15.

The classes, which meet from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m. each Tuesday for six weeks, will be sponsored by the New York State School of Industrial and Labor Relations, Cornell, and the Hudson Chamber of Commerce. The course is designed for foremen and supervisory personnel in the Hudson area.

Each student who regularly attends the course will be awarded a certificate by the Cornell school. There are no fees or other requirements for registration. Women workers in supervisory capacities have been invited to attend.

2. The government should make clear its determination to hold securities speculation in check, with "specific and reiterated warning about the danger of runaway speculation."

3. "If speculative tendencies persist, more drastic measures involving the tax power should be contemplated."

4. The New York Stock Exchange should accompany its "public education" campaign, designed to increase the number of investors, with "stern warnings on the dangers that await the amateur investor, reminders of past misfortunes, and of the tendency of markets that have gone up spectacularly to come down the same way."

5. Everybody concerned should maintain "a keen suspicion of whatever are the currently fashionable remedies" for over-speculation.

GALBRAITH SAID control of money rates may not be very effective. And he said Wall Street calls for cutting the capital gains tax should be received with "a measure of amiable skepticism."

Wood told the committee he knows of no manipulation or other devices affecting the prices of stocks sold "over the counter" by the 3,204 members of the National Association of Securities Dealers.

"Over the counter" refers to any transaction in securities which does not take place on an exchange. This is the basis on which practically all federal, state and municipal securities, as well as many corporate issues, are handled.

WOOD SAID in a statement: "If stocks traded in the over-the-counter market are priced otherwise than by normal supply and demand influences, I do not know of any examples and feel certain that over the years they are few and far between."

He said he was sure any out-of-line prices "eventually would become known to us and to the Securities and Exchange Commission," and that "proper disciplinary action" would be taken promptly.

Wood said the over-the-counter dealers have various ways "to police extensions of credit," and has a rule that securities must be paid for within seven days.

"The association," he said, "has no specific power or authority to take any action which would restrain speculation, excessive or not, on the part of customers."

Three Cars Crash; No One Is Injured

An icy spot on Albany avenue extension near the town hall of the town of Ulster caused a three-car accident about 7:30 a. m. today, state police of the Kingston Station reported.

Three passenger cars, proceeding north, were in collision when the first of the three slowed to make a left turn into the cut-off road to Sunset Park, troopers said.

There were no injuries. One of the cars was rather heavily damaged in the front end.

The first car, operated by Donat Constant, 45, Windsor Hotel, Tupper Lake, slowed to make the turn, troopers said. The second car, operated by Harry Stone, 53, Church street, Kerhonkson, slowed also, according to troopers, but was struck in the rear by a vehicle operated by George Karabinos, 41, of 132 Broadway.

Troopers said Karabinos applied his brakes but skidded on ice, striking the rear of the Stone vehicle and pushing it into the rear of the Constant car.

The Stone and Constant cars suffered only minor damage, troopers said. There were no arrests.

Investigating were Troopers H. R. Burgess and H. H. Ganss.

Ross Is Cited By Grant Stores

John J. Ross, former manager of the local W. T. Grant Co. store who left last week to become manager of the Grant store in Massena, has been cited by his company for "outstanding managerial ability in 1954."

The promotion to the Massena store was the result of the outstanding record he established in Kingston, it was reported.

Ross was presented with a certificate of merit by H. T. Wilkinson, regional manager, at a convention in White Sulphur Springs, West Va., last week in recognition of the "excellent performance of his store during the past year." Grants operate more than 500 retail stores from Maine to California.

AT THE CONVENTION a group of Grant executives, headed by President Edward Staley, discussed company plans and presented a special merchandise show of highlight values to be offered in Grant stores this spring and summer. Several super-size vans were required to haul Grants spotlighted merchandise samples and properties to the convention site. Professional models, children as well as adults, modeled selected apparel items which are expected to be "best sellers" this spring and summer.

Police Probing Series of Breaks

The theft of a number of battery cases from the Levine junk yard and breaks into a local lumber company office and a grocery store were reported to police this morning.

The reports were received between 6:45 and 9 a. m. today when proprietors opened their places of business.

Evidence of illegal entry was reported at the William C Schryver Lumber Company, 363 Foxhall avenue, and the Henry Schultz grocery at 251 East Chester street. Preliminary investigation indicated nothing was missing at either place, but further investigation is being conducted by Detectives Clarence Brophy and Frank Sammons.

Porsch Has Another Birthday

HERMAN PORSCH

Herman Porsch of 90 Broadway, former barge captain, was quietly celebrating his birthday at his home today reminiscing about the old D & H Canal days and boating business in general.

Over 90, but not exactly sure of his age, Porsch was born in a village near Danzig, Germany. As a boy, he came to this country on the sailing ship, Valla, which took 90 days to make the trip from Hamburg, Germany, to New York's Castle Garden. One stop was made at Liverpool, England.

In his younger days, Porsch worked for the D & H Coal Company, then the North River Coal Company and later for the M. & D. Tracey Boating Company in New York.

About a year ago, on March 31, 1954, Porsch suffered an accident which resulted in having to wear a cast on his left ankle.

GOP Joins . . .

ments of the power to collect "breakage' on sales and amusement taxes. The measure was passed last night by the Assembly.

In other developments last night:

1. Harriman signed a bill relieving election boards of keeping future enrollment lists for the American Labor Party, which did not poll 50,000 votes for governor last fall.

2. The Senate unanimously approved Harriman's appointment of John I. Snyder Jr., of Scarsdale to the state banking board.

The "breakage" bill would allow localities to round off a collected tax to the next full cent when it came to a figure ending in a fraction of one-half cent or more.

The President of the Civil Service Employes Assn. yesterday charged Shapiro with "unjustified" prying into the personal affairs of SLA workers.

John F. Powers, whose organization claims 54,524 members, said that the questionnaire "suggests a fishing expedition."

"An honest man has nothing to fear from revealing the facts," Shapiro retorted.

Powers' stand won support from Cooke and two other GOP lawmakers, Orin S. Wilcox of Jefferson county, chairman of the Assembly Civil Service Committee, and Fred W. Preller of Queens, chairman of the temporary state commission to revise the Civil Service law.

They said in a statement that Shapiro's office "has ridden roughshod over the constitutional rights and personal integrity and dignity" of SLA employes.

Cooke said later, on the Senate floor, that he did not believe the governor knew "the type of questionnaire" that had been passed out.

He demanded that Harriman "insist upon the withdrawal of this type of questionnaire."

Francis J. Mahoney, Democratic minority leader in the Senate, replied: "I don't think an honest man has a great deal to worry about."

And Sen. Louis L. Friedman, Brooklyn Democrat, contended that Shapiro merely was "trying to find out where that corruption is in the State Liquor Authority."

He recalled that Democrats had clamored for years for a probe of the SLA.

Shapiro has been investigating the authority for several weeks but has declined to comment on the inquiry. Last week, John F. O'Connell, resigned as SLA chairman. In accepting the resignation, Harriman wrote him that Shapiro's investigation "discloses nothing which reflects on your honesty or integrity."

Cooke, Wilcox and Preller said in their statement:

"This (the questionnaire) is not a legislative move in good faith to discover or solve a crime or to prevent unlawful action. It is a political inquisition; it is government by blackjack . . ."

ly filling up and can be operated for only about one month more without expending additional funds for pipe.

"If the proposal to utilize the swamp area in the Fifth Ward is not approved by the 15th of March, then it will be necessary for me to request your Honorable Body to make immediately available the sum of $4,000 for additional pipe in the Wilbur avenue area, and then further pipe from time to time as the area nears completion," the mayor stated.

Sanger's Two Phones

The Sanger Cabinet concern has two telephone numbers, one of which was inadvertently omitted from a recent ad. The numbers are Kingston 6565 and 3499-M, according to Harry Sanger, who handles kitchen cabinets and store fixtures.

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 8 (AP)—The stock market was pushed down today by a series of moderate selling waves.

In the early afternoon, prices were off 1 to 4 points in many key areas of the list.

Aircrafts were hardest hit by the selling and displayed the widest losses. No major division was able to stand against the lower trend.

Trading stepped up its pace sharply on the fall and maintained a rate above yesterday's 2,630,000 shares changing hands in a falling market.

The Senate Banking Committee in Washington in its study of the stock market heard a witness who said the country may be in the early stages of a boom-and-bust cycle that could end in a 1929-style crash.

Brownies' Meeting Postponed

Brownies Troop No. 44, Port Ewen, will not meet tonight. Date of next meeting will be announced.

At Least One Woman Will Serve

New York, March 8 (AP)—At least one woman will serve on the jury in the second trial of Minot F. (Mickey) Jelke on charges that he induced girls into a life of cafe society vice.

Mrs. Annie Johnson, gray-haired former music teacher who has a married daughter, was seated today as the fourth juror, and the first woman on the trial panel.

She was found acceptable to both sides as the trial entered its second day. Mrs. Johnson is the wife of a retired marine engineer.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Anthony J. Liebler told her that some of the testimony "might be embarrassing to you."

MRS. JOHNSON, a slender, motherly-looking, wearing a gray cloth coat with gray fur collar and a small red hat, replied, "I don't think so."

She also said she would not be embarrassed if she were the only woman chosen for the jury.

George Washington Herz, Jelke's attorney, asked her whether she had any prejudices against the defendant because of the nature of the charge. She said she did not.

SHE ALSO ANSWERED in the negative when Herz asked her whether she would make a "compromise verdict—one you won't believe in, but would agree to for the sake of compromise."

Three married men were seated on the jury on the trial's opening day yesterday and Asst. Dist. Atty. Anthony J. Liebler predicted selection of the full panel would likely take two to three days.

Jelke, heir to an oleomargarine fortune, was convicted on two counts of compulsory prostitution two years ago but won a new trial because the judge had closed the courtroom during the prosecution phase of the trial. Although Judge Francis L. Valente said he took this step to safeguard "public decency and morals," a higher court ruled that his ban against the press and public deprived Jelke of a fair trial.

High Honor . . .

deposed cabinet of former Premier Pierre Mendes-France.

De Beaumont, a lifelong friend of Mrs. Chadbourne, spent several weekends as her guest at Stone Ridge during the autumn of 1954. During his visits here he was keenly interested in the Vanderlyn paintings at the Senate House Museum, at which time he learned that John Vanderlyn, a native of Kingston and a protege of Aaron Burr, had spent long periods in Paris.

In Paris Vanderlyn not only was a student under Vincent, but became a portrait painter of many well-known Americans from the Directory to the early part of the 19th century. Vanderlyn also was awarded a Napoleonic Gold Medal at the Salon of 1808.

WHILE IN NEW YORK de Beaumont was invited to view the panorama of the place and gardens of Versailles, which now is in the process of restoration at the Metropolitan Museum. Because of its huge size, 176 feet long, this work will take about two years.

The panorama, which was stored many years at the Senate House Museum, was given to the Metropolitan about two years ago by the trustees of the Senate House Association, whose property it became under the will of the late Catherine Vanderlyn. Action was taken by the trustees to transfer the panorama to the Metropolitan, because there was insufficient space locally to exhibit the painting, which was deteriorating in storage.

De Beaumont was deeply impressed by the painting, its remarkable draftsmanship, its exquisite coloring and by the artist's whole conception of one of France's greatest monuments.

Returns From Trip

Claude S. Middagh of 120 Stephan street has returned from a trip to the Koolvent plants in Pittsburgh, Pa., and Dallas, Texas, where he studied the correct method of erecting the metal awnings he sells in this area. Because of guarantees given by the firm, Middagh said, it insists on factory training for installers.

Mustaparta Is To Direct Course

George Murtaparta, personnel manager of the Hercules Powder Company, Port Ewen, will instruct a course in supervisory problems and techniques at the Hudson Junior High School, Hudson, beginning Tuesday, March 15.

The classes, which meet from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m. each Tuesday for six weeks, will be sponsored by the New York State School of Industrial and Labor Relations, Cornell, and the Hudson Chamber of Commerce. The course is designed for foremen and supervisory personnel in the Hudson area.

Each student who regularly attends the course will be awarded a certificate by the Cornell school. There are no fees or other requirements for registration. Women workers in supervisory capacities have been invited to attend.

Economist Sees

trading on a cash basis by raising margin requirements to 100 per cent." This requirement, he said, could be eased when the market calmed down. The margin—or cash down payment—requirement now stands at 60 per cent.

2. The government should make clear its determination to hold securities speculation in check, with "specific and reiterated warning about the danger of runaway speculation."

3. "If speculative tendencies persist, more drastic measures involving the tax power should be contemplated."

4. The New York Stock Exchange should accompany its "public education" campaign, designed to increase the number of investors, with "stern warnings on the dangers that await the amateur investor, reminders of past misfortunes, and of the tendency of markets that have gone up spectacularly to come down the same way."

5. Everybody concerned should maintain "a keen suspicion of whatever are the currently fashionable remedies" for over-speculation.

GALBRAITH SAID control of money rates may not be very effective. And he said Wall Street calls for cutting the capital gains tax should be received with "a measure of amiable skepticism."

Wood told the committee he knows of no manipulation or other devices affecting the prices of stocks sold "over the counter" by the 3,204 members of the National Association of Securities Dealers.

"Over the counter" refers to any transaction in securities which does not take place on an exchange. This is the basis on which practically all federal, state and municipal securities, as well as many corporate issues, are handled.

WOOD SAID in a statement: "If stocks traded in the over-the-counter market are priced otherwise than by normal supply and demand influences, I do not know of any examples and feel certain that over the years they are few and far between."

He said he was sure any out-of-line prices "eventually would become known to us and to the Securities and Exchange Commission," and that "proper disciplinary action" would be taken promptly.

Wood said the over-the-counter dealers have various ways "to police extensions of credit," and has a rule that securities must be paid for within seven days.

"The association," he said, "has no specific power or authority to take any action which would restrain speculation, excessive or not, on the part of customers."

has been made to help defend them.

Richards also has raised the question of whether the islands might be traded off to the Communists in exchange for a cease-fire in Formosa strait, as has been suggested by British Foreign Minister Anthony Eden.

Dulles was said to have told those who talked with him since his return that he made no commitments when he and Eden discussed the Formosa situation while in the Far East.

Three Cars Crash; No One Is Injured

An icy spot on Albany avenue extension near the town hall of the town of Ulster caused a three-car accident about 7:30 a. m. today, state police of the Kingston Station reported.

Three passenger cars, proceeding north, were in collision when the first of the three slowed to make a left turn into the cut-off road to Sunset Park, troopers said.

There were no injuries. One of the cars was rather heavily damaged in the front end.

The first car, operated by Donat Constant, 45, Windsor Hotel, Tupper Lake, slowed to make the turn, troopers said. The second car, operated by Harry Stone, 53, Church street, Kerhonkson, slowed also, according to troopers, but was struck in the rear by a vehicle operated by George Karabinos, 41, of 132 Broadway.

Troopers said Karabinos applied his brakes but skidded on ice, striking the rear of the Stone vehicle and pushing it into the rear of the Constant car.

The Stone and Constant cars suffered only minor damage, troopers said. There were no arrests.

Investigating were Troopers H. R. Burgess and H. H. Ganss.

Ross Is Cited By Grant Stores

John J. Ross, former manager of the local W. T. Grant Co. store who left last week to become manager of the Grant store in Massena, has been cited by his company for "outstanding managerial ability in 1954."

The promotion to the Massena store was the result of the outstanding record he established in Kingston, it was reported.

Ross was presented with a certificate of merit by H. T. Wilkinson, regional manager, at a convention in White Sulphur Springs, West Va., last week in recognition of the "excellent performance of his store during the past year." Grants operate more than 500 retail stores from Maine to California.

AT THE CONVENTION a group of Grant executives, headed by President Edward Staley, discussed company plans and presented a special merchandise show of highlight values to be offered in Grant stores this spring and summer. Several super-size vans were required to haul Grants spotlighted merchandise samples and properties to the convention site. Charged With Looting Ross Osterhoudt's Car

New York, March 8 (Special) —A New York man was arraigned in Felony Court here Monday on a charge of looting the car of Ross K. Osterhoudt of R. D. 1, Stone Ridge.

The defendant, Robert Morrison, 34, was arrested Sunday afternoon at 113th street and Morningside Drive, New York, by Patrolman John F. Kelly Jr., of the 24th Precinct. The officer says that Morrison threw a rock through the ventilator window of the Osterhoudt car parked there and stole three suitcases of clothing.

He was arrested as he started walking away with the suitcases, Kelly says, and admitted the theft.

In court Monday Morrison waived a hearing on the charge and the case was referred by Magistrate Edward T. Gallaway to Special Sessions Court for prosecution.

Census Bureau to Hold Survey on Housing

A national survey to determine the rate of housing vacancies will be conducted beginning in March by the U. S. Census Bureau, according to Jerome Litzky, supervisor of the bureau's district office at New York which will participate in the collection of the information.

The housing vacancy survey will be carried out in connection with the census bureau's current population survey which collects facts on employment and unemployment. Information to be collected about vacant dwelling units encountered in the 25-thousand-family current population survey sample panel includes number of rooms in each unit, rent asked, sales price, whether or not it is available for seasonal or year-around occupancy.

The current population survey will be conducted locally and in 229 other areas of the country during the week of March 14.

Town of Hurley Reports Funds

Ernest Myer, chairman of the Polio Drive in the Hurley Township, reports that funds collected have exceeded those of previous years.

Mrs. Wesley O'Brien, chairman of Glenford reported $91.50. Mrs. Howard Every, chairman of West Hurley reported $211.65. Ernest Myer, chairman of Hurley reported $541.81, making a grand total for the township of Hurley of $844.96.

William O'Kelly was in charge of the schools, cards and coin boxes of his district.

The population of the United States increased by 2 per cent in 1954.

The number of farm tractors in Sweden rose from 18,000 in 1910 to 100,000 today.

RUSHING TIDES OF CHANGE HERE

The favorite spot dotted with trees where for years you watched the changing colors, the withering of the leaves and again the blossoming of the buds indicating the advent of the seasons has taken on a new look. One day a giant tractor crashed down all before it and there sprung up a modern highway, a big industrial plant and a row of modern homes.

More people than you used to notice crowd into the stores and onto the streets and the roads that you drove your car over are now crowded. There are many new names now appearing in your local daily paper. You do not know them. What has happened that the sense of spaciousness you once felt has vanished?

All these happenings, like the gouges made in rock by a great, slow-moving glacier, are the work of passing time and the age of progress.

We cannot block these changes, any more than we could halt a glacier in its massive course. Change is the current in the stream of passing days.

Anytime we pause to look about we surely will find much that is desirable in the new things we see. We have to live for today and tomorrow and think of those who will carry on where we leave off. Wisdom and stable living come from understanding the endless changes in the life about us. However we can well strive to keep strong our ties with those places we once knew. For in the continuity thus gained lies the kind of strength and calmness we need to meet and cope with the rushing tides of change all about us in 1955.

A fellow visited an automobile show at a municipal arena where they displayed several hundred cars. He says he would have bought one on the spot if they would have promised to let him continue to park it there.

TB STILL WITH US

Tuberculosis is still a major problem, says Dr. John A. Barnwell, who directs the tuberculosis program of the Veterans Administration. Great progress has been made toward eradicating the disease, but it is still far from being rooted out. In 1900 there were 194 deaths for every 100,000 persons. In 1954 the death rate was only 10.6 per 100,000. Yet, says Dr. Barnwell, "Tuberculosis still takes the biggest bite of any disease out of federal medical funds."

Drugs help greatly in effecting a cure. But equally important is continued care in hospital beds. If bed care is added to the medicinal treatment, the patient's disability may last only a few months. This is not true unless he is confined to bed under proper care.

Four states are praised by Dr. Barnwell for their anti-tuberculosis programs: Connecticut, Michigan, Minnesota and New York. This is a roll of honor to which more names should be added.

An ice skating star from Communist Czechoslovakia seeks asylum in the United States because she was permitted no freedom in her native land. Probably they'll send the blood hounds across the ice after her.

MAKING YOUR WILL

Americans prepare for most events but are notoriously negligent in the ordering of their personal affairs for the inevitable event of death. Half the country's professional men and women show their carelessness by failure to make a will according to a survey made by Teachers College, Columbia University.

Pharmacists have the doubtful honor of being the most indifferent. Journalists and teachers follow, then lawyers. Lawyers are always urging willmaking on their clients, but rarely take their own good advice.

If those who have not yet made wills are moved by no other consideration, they might reflect that this neglect may leave their heirs in financial difficulties which the existence of a proper will would avoid.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

PRODUCTION IN RUSSIA

In 1928, Soviet Russia produced 4,000,000 metric tons of steel; in 1953, it produced 38,000,000 metric tons. Prior to 1917, Russia was essentially an agricultural country with a primitive industry consisting principally of small manufactures and handicrafts. The advance, therefore, to a modern industry, based on steel, has been enormous in a short period.

However, to achieve this result, agriculture was sacrificed. It was not so intended, the Russian assumption being that the modernized collective farms would produce increasingly, particularly as mechanized and scientific methods were being applied. It has not worked out that way. The farmer has measured his work against the availability of consumers goods.

Malenkov and Mikoyan believed that they could increase agricultural production by increasing the availability of consumers goods. Unfortunately for their program, Soviet Russia's commitments for armaments could not be postponed and therefore Khrushchev had to make the changes in policy sharp and dramatic. What means he will use to stimulate agricultural production does not yet appear, but the neglect of consumer and light industry cannot affect the peasant unfavorably. Raising his own food, his compensation must be measured in terms of clothing, improved housing and increased luxuries. Otherwise there is no reason for him to put himself out to increase his output.

Stalin never solved the agricultural problem: His various "Five-Year Plans" were for the benefit of heavy industry at the expense of the peasant and the worker, who nevertheless did not rebel for a complex of reasons. Expenditures for atomic experimentation undoubtedly have aggravated this situation. "Focus," a publication of the American Geographical Society, states:

". . . according to a recent American study, real wages in the Soviet Union declined precipitately during the early Five-Year Plans and only now are once again approaching the level of 1928. The amount of housing in cities is reported to have decreased from 64 square feet of floor space per person in 1928 to 46 square feet in 1953. The average urban family of five has a one-room apartment 12 by 19 feet. . . ."

There is no physical reason why Soviet Russia should not be an outstanding industrial and agricultural country. In Czarist times, serfdom, absentee landlordism and an autocratic system of government held the people down. Russia missed the Industrial Revolution of the 18th and 19th centuries altogether. Soviet Russia established a rigid Socialist economy which utilized wealth and resources according to a fixed program rather than by competition. While remarkable progress was made in certain areas of production, as in steel, in others, as in agriculture, the system failed. The incentives for production which manifest themselves in private enterprise do not achieve the same results under Socialism.

For instance, scientists, writers, actors, dancers and party leaders, under the Soviety system, enjoy all the benefits of our society and sometimes more, but there are no small manufacturers who produce such surprising results as the establishment of a great industry, useful in war as well as peace, out of an initial gadget, as in our country.

An astounding condition in Russia is the reduction of oil consumption; less oil being used today as fuel than 50 years ago. Whereas geologists believe that from the Caspian Sea the Urals lie large deposits of petroleum, they have not been developed so far as is known. Coal, which is readily available in the Donets, Kuznetsk, Moscow and Ural basins, both bituminous and lignite, is replacing petroleum as fuel, whereas in the United States, petroleum is replacing coal. In 1901, Russia was producing half the world's supply of petroleum; in 1953, its share was about eight per cent of the world's supply.

Modern agriculture is a phase of a petroleum technique. Modern farming is done by machines that move on oil. Oil drilling consumes quantities of steel which must be available and the use of which cannot be postponed to make arrangements. A modern country must be prepared to provide guns, bombs, butter and petroleum at the same time. The Socialist theory that some items are postponable does not work out in the over-all results.

Khrushchev apparently faces this problem, but what is his solution for it? He is following the Stalinist line of sacrificing everything for heavy industry and armaments. Stalin, however, had the advantage of an $11,000,000,000 gift from the United States and enormous technical assistance. This will not be available for Khrushchev.

FOOT COMPLICATIONS OF DIABETES

Since we cannot pick our parents and grandparents and thus avoid diabetes by choosing those who did not have it, the next best way to avoid diabetes is to avoid becoming overweight. "To be a few pounds overweight is all right until you are thirty-five years of age but after that it is absolutely not allowable if there is any tendency to diabetes in your family, and indeed it is contrary to future good health under any circumstances. To inherit diabetes is blameless, but to acquire it through overweight plus heredity is blamable."

One of the greatest dangers in diabetes is gangrene and at present one diabetic in every fifteen will die of this painful and long drawn out complication. Gangrene is common in the old and rare in the young and comes because circulation in the legs is poor. The legs are far from the heart and the blood must return to the heart uphill; the legs are used much, their blood-vessels wear out, especially when they are compelled to carry too much weight day after day—and gangrene occurs particularly in those who have been fat.

What can we do to avoid gangrene if we are diabetic? From the Henry Ford Hospital, Detroit, Michigan, a team of research physicians give the following advice:

Foot Hygiene: Bathe feet daily, avoiding excessive soap to preserve the natural oil. Keep skin soft with oil or lanolin.

Socks: Socks and stockings should be two sizes larger, or one-half inch longer, than the feet to avoid binding the toes together.

Shoes: Shoe should extend one-half inch beyond the great toe and be wide to permit toe movement and ventilation. They should have a last to keep the great toe straight and have a smooth lining. Shoes should be changed daily. Wear new shoes only one hour at a time for breaking in. Do not walk barefooted.

Avoid Foot Injuries and Infections: Trim nails straight across, not too short and with the corner of the nail outside the nail fold. Do not use hot water bottles, bags or electric heaters or pads. Avoid strong antiseptics. There should be no corn plasters or paring of corns. Any pressure present should be relieved, foot soaked in warm, not hot, soapy water, and dead skin around corn or callous rubbed off with with gauze. Do not wear circular garters or sit with knees crossed.

Exercises which help imperfect circulation are: Bend the foot up and down as far as it will go six times. Describe a circle to the right with the foot six times and then to the left. Elevate one or both legs at an angle of 45 degrees for one, two or three minutes, followed by hanging them out of the bed for the balance of the five minutes and then keeping them horizontal for the next five minutes. If you have had gangrene or are threatened with it, keep off your feet four or five minutes each hour of the day and fifteen or more minutes if you already have had an amputation.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA) — Outmoded state laws and city ordinances limiting property assessment, tax rates and bonded indebtedness provide the greatest obstacle to the construction of adequate public school facilities in the United States.

These largely overlooked facts were brought out in the testimony of U. S. Commissioner of Education Samuel Brownell, who presented the administration's school-aid program to the Senate Committee on Education. This is the first time that the real, underlying reasons for the U. S. school shortage have been spread on the record.

The general impression has been that today's school overcrowding is due to the facts that few new schools were built during the war years and that there was a great increase in the number of children born during the war years and immediately after. This is only part of the story.

The full story must include the reasons why state and local governments have not been able to keep up with the increasing school population, the moving of many families from old city centers into the suburbs and the settling of many newly formed families in new communities.

AS DR. BROWNELL POINTS OUT, school districts in all the states can finance construction of new buildings from current tax revenues or the sale of school bonds. In only 16 states, the state government can give money to local school districts. In five states the state government can make loans to local school districts. In four states, state agencies can build schools and rent them to the local communities.

Under any of these procedures, it takes from two to three years to build a school, once the school board makes up its mind to do it. A principal delay comes in getting voters to approve bond issues. In ten states there are tax limits restricting local issuance of school bonds.

Twenty-six state constitutions limit school bond indebtedness. Twenty-one states have laws limiting school bond indebtedness.

In 13 states these limits are from 12 to 50 per cent of the taxable property valuation. In 22 states the limit is 7 to 12 per cent. In the remaining 13 states, the limit is only 2 to 7 per cent. The 35 states in the two latter groups obviously can't raise as much money for new schools as those in the first group.

OBSOLETE PROPERTY ASSESSMENT ratios also cut down the amount of money many school districts can raise. Dr. Brownell cites the case of one typical city where property was assessed for 38 per cent of value, for a total of $142 million. If property were assessed at full value, the total would have been $374 million.

Since the bonded debt limit of this district was 10 per cent of assessed property valuation, it was limited to $14 million indebtedness for school construction. A shift to full valuation permitted this district to increase its school bond indebtedness to $37 million and solved its school shortage.

Until these artificial restrictions on school construction are removed from state laws, local school districts are hamstrung in trying to keep up with their school needs.

This is an important point for the Administration, which wants to have local communities solve their own problems instead of relying on the federal government. The states can't meet their own problems till they modernize their laws.

ON OTHER PART OF THIS school shortage problem not sufficiently understood is that it is concentrated largely in city and suburban areas. In rural areas, the problem is largely one of replacing old buildings with more modern schools.

There are 63,000 school districts in the U. S. and this districting is obsolete in many places, Dr. Brownell says.

In 2000 districts—3 per cent of this total—there are 20 million pupils. This is two-thirds of today's total public school population, kindergarten through high school.

This is where schools are scandalously overcrowded. It is in 1300 school systems in cities of over 10,000 population and 700 counties which operate all schools for their city, suburban, village and rural areas.

Members of House Will Be Hampered by Federal Law Affecting Pay Increases

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 8—When Congress raised the pay of its members, it imposed on them a handicap little realized by the public and perhaps by the senators and representatives themselves.

For under the Constitution no member of either House can be appointed to any office in the other branches of the government if the compensation or allowances for those offices have been increased during their terms. Hence, there can be no additions to the federal judiciary from Congress until the current terms of members of both Houses expire.

Thus, members of the House will not become eligible for appointment again to the federal bench until after January 3, 1957, and senators who were elected for six-year terms last fall will not become eligible for appointment as federal judges until after January 3, 1961.

THERE ARE A LOT of vacancies on the federal bench now, and some new justiceships that have been created which are unfilled. It has been customary in the past to fill some of these from among members of Congress. In some instances members of Congress have been appointed to the Supreme Court of the United States while still serving the terms for which they were elected. Notable examples were Senator Hugo Black of Alabama, who was nominated in 1937 by the late President Roosevelt, and Senator Byrnes of South Carolina. Not so many years ago Fred Vinson, who later became chief justice, was appointed by FDR to the Circuit Court of Appeals while serving as chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee.

The raise in pay is a barrier not only to the judiciary but to some other offices. The Constitution says that no member of the House or Senate can be appointed to any government post that has been created during the term in which the member is still serving. If any ambassadorships or positions on any newly created governmental commissions are available, members of Congress cannot be appointed to them while serving out their present terms.

THE EXACT language of the Constitution on this point is as follows:

"No senator or representative shall, during the time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil office under the authority of the United States, which shall have been created, or the emoluments whereof shall have been increased during such time."

Two instances occurred in past history in which members of Congress found themselves in conflict with that provision. One was in 1889, when a senator was appointed minister to Mexico during his term, during which Congress had increased the salary for that office. The attorney general ruled him ineligible.

The other case occurred in 1909 when the late President William Howard Taft appointed Senator Philander C. Knox of Pennsylvania, Republican, to be secretary of state while Mr. Knox was still in Congress. For many weeks nobody raised the point. Then the late Oswald F. Schuette, Washington correspondent of a Chicago newspaper, drew attention to the conflict with the Constitution. Congress saved the day by passing a law reducing the salary of the secretary of state to what it was before Mr. Knox was designated. There has always been a question as to whether the spirit of the Constitution was complied with in that instance.

"ONE MAY CONCEIVE of great abuses which might arise did this prohibition not exist," writes Thomas J. Norton in his book on the Constitution. "Of course, after the term of a senator or representative has expired, he may accept the office created during his term or the office the emoluments of which were increased while he was in Congress."

All this is related to the determination of the founding fathers to keep the legislative and executive branches of the government separate. Thus, the Constitution provides further that "no person holding any office under the United States, shall be a member of either House during his continuance in office."

It cannot be said that even these constitutional provisions have prevented attempts by presidents to dominate Congress through the dangling of prospective appointments before members in order to win or hold their support. Again and again in the cloakrooms of Congress, whispers have been heard that so and so was going along with the administration because he was expecting sooner or later to be appointed to a lifetime judgeship on the federal bench. And this has been rumored under both Democratic and Republican administrations. Certainly the recent pay raise fortuitously eliminates that form of pressure for a while anyway.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

It is plain that the few honest individuals who think a worker has a moral duty to join a union of his fellows simply do not know what they are talking about. Of course, honesty is rare among those who have been raising the current clamor but, for the purpose of this essay, I will dismiss the professional unioneers and party politicians, and even certain grand industrialists who have obvious ulterior selfish motives.

I address my comments to a hypothetical individual who has read of squalor in the coal mines and steel towns of Pennsylvania, of the 12-hour day and bitter poverty, always in the presence of company police and company "influence" from the cradle, bought in a company store, to the grave in a company plot.

To sweeten the pot, let me remind those who came in a few years late that back in the '40s I learned that President Roosevelt's family, on the Delano side, had two coal fields in Pennsylvania, each with a company town and appropriate fixings, including private goons, often called cossacks in Pennsylvania, to run the organizers out of town.

One year the mines closed down and dramatic photographs were published, though only narrowly, for this was lese-majeste, of food spoiled and wasted in the company stores while children of the miners hungered.

At last, John L. Lewis got his Wagner Act, and that very day sent organizers into the Roosevelt towns to sign up the serfs who appear to have been sincerely eager to escape one thrall into another.

The Cossacks rebuffed them so they telephoned Lewis in Washington who ordered them to go back and tell the captain of the Cossacks that if they did not take down the toll-gate barriers and let the organizers freely in to their business, Mr. Lewis would issue a statement in Washington.

An hour or so later, the organizers phoned Lewis again that all was merry as a marriage bell in the Roosevelt company towns of the coalbelt.

It seemed that the managers had phoned the company's New York office which had consulted the White House and that by this sweet suasion John L. Lewis finally conquered the last and certainly the most fascinating company towns in Pennsylvania.

I trust that someone will remind me not to omit this classical item of history from the book I am fixing to do on the Roosevelts when I have reached the lean and slippered pantaloon.

I am sometimes scolded for digression, but to me digression is a fault only if it fails in interest. Most professors will uphold me if only in their own defense.

What do these theoretical honest persons mean by a "union"? They think of a union as a group of workers come together of their own volition in their own mutual interest, inevitably in conflict with the employer. He is known by the short and ugly name of boss and his interest is bound to conflict with theirs. They want money from him which he wants to keep for himself.

That is what a union is in the simplest terms but also in the only honest terms applicable to such an organization.

But what is the reality?

A typical reality is Dubinsky's garment workers. The members are needle-workers in low pay brackets. But Dubinsky's treasury is about $150 millions and the workers in the ranks have nothing to say about the way he uses it. He runs an insurance company for them, which is not the proper business of a union at all.

He also runs a clinic in New York, employing, incidentally, a former Russian Communist who came to this country to pass counterfeit American money for the Soviet government and was sent to prison. He claims that he has abandoned communism but at last reports he was not permitted to practice medicine for Dubinsky because of his criminal record. Therefore, he was employed around the pharmacy.

Well, after all, must a loyal, simple American workman involve himself in all dark, Labyrinthian activities just to provide himself with a spokesman to argue with the boss about pay, hours and the lighting and heating of the factory?

He certainly must. And does.

Dubinsky also maintains a local political party as a subsidiary of the union in New York State and a worldwide political espionage and propaganda machine, somehow, but very mysteriously, involved with the State Department, at a cost of how much money to the union members, nobody has ever been told. It is none of the workers' business!

So now this simple needle-worker is engaged in weird international politics and promoting "Socialism," as distinguished from communism, in many nations but subject to no interference on his part. Maybe the worker is a Republican isolationist who wants no truck with foreign lands and would not think of promoting socialism anywhere. He may be one of those who hold that Marx is the spirit of both socialism and communism and that both violate his principles. Maybe so, but he can't do anything about it.

But can't he vote Dubinsky out of office, seize executive control of the garment workers, and wind up the insurance business and the private state department promoting socialism and spying overseas?

Well, what do you think?

Dubinsky has been president since 1932; John L. Lewis has been president of the miners since 1920; Dan Tobin was president of the teamsters for more than 40 years; Joe Moreschi has been president of the hodcarriers about 25 years and never was elected but just succeeded to the job in a racket which did not hold a convention in 32 years and has not held a valid election in almost 40 years; and Bill Maloney, the boss of the operating engineers, has been up there for 15 years and will have the job for life.

How are elections run?

The methods vary but in all cases the system is such that the powers re-elect themselves. I have a collection of a hundred Hitlerian ballots of unions with no opposition candidates.

The American union is the most un-American institution that we have. No loyal American has the slightest moral obligation, indeed he scarcely has an excuse, to join one.

RUSHING TIDES OF CHANGE HERE

The favorite spot dotted with trees where for years you watched the changing colors, the withering of the leaves and again the blossoming of the buds indicating the advent of the seasons has taken on a new look. One day a giant tractor crashed down all before it and there sprung up a modern highway, a big industrial plant and a row of modern homes.

More people than you used to notice crowd into the stores and onto the streets and the roads that you drove your car over are now crowded. There are many new names now appearing in your local daily paper. You do not know them. What has happened that the sense of spaciousness you once felt has vanished?

All these happenings, like the gouges made in rock by a great, slow-moving glacier, are the work of passing time and the age of progress.

We cannot block these changes, any more than we could halt a glacier in its massive course. Change is the current in the stream of passing days.

Anytime we pause to look about we surely will find much that is desirable in the new things we see. We have to live for today and tomorrow and think of those who will carry on where we leave off. Wisdom and stable living come from understanding the endless changes in the life about us. However we can well strive to keep strong our ties with those places we once knew. For in the continuity thus gained lies the kind of strength and calmness we need to meet and cope with the rushing tides of change all about us in 1955.

A fellow visited an automobile show at a municipal arena where they displayed several hundred cars. He says he would have bought one on the spot if they would have promised to let him continue to park it there.

TB STILL WITH US

Tuberculosis is still a major problem, says Dr. John A. Barnwell, who directs the tuberculosis program of the Veterans Administration. Great progress has been made toward eradicating the disease, but it is still far from being rooted out. In 1900 there were 194 deaths for every 100,000 persons. In 1954 the death rate was only 10.6 per 100,000. Yet, says Dr. Barnwell, "Tuberculosis still takes the biggest bite of any disease out of federal medical funds."

Drugs help greatly in effecting a cure. But equally important is continued care in hospital beds. If bed care is added to the medicinal treatment, the patient's disability may last only a few months. This is not true unless he is confined to bed under proper care.

Four states are praised by Dr. Barnwell for their anti-tuberculosis programs: Connecticut, Michigan, Minnesota and New York. This is a roll of honor to which more names should be added.

An ice skating star from Communist Czechoslovakia seeks asylum in the United States because she was permitted no freedom in her native land. Probably they'll send the blood hounds across the ice after her.

MAKING YOUR WILL

Americans prepare for most events but are notoriously negligent in the ordering of their personal affairs for the inevitable event of death. Half the country's professional men and women show their carelessness by failure to make a will according to a survey made by Teachers College, Columbia University.

Pharmacists have the doubtful honor of being the most indifferent. Journalists and teachers follow, then lawyers. Lawyers are always urging willmaking on their clients, but rarely take their own good advice.

If those who have not yet made wills are moved by no other consideration, they might reflect that this neglect may leave their heirs in financial difficulties which the existence of a proper will would avoid.

'These Days'

PRODUCTION IN RUSSIA

In 1928, Soviet Russia produced 4,000,000 metric tons of steel; in 1953, it produced 38,000,000 metric tons. Prior to 1917, Russia was essentially an agricultural country with a primitive industry consisting principally of small manufactures and handicrafts. The advance, therefore, to a modern industry, based on steel, has been enormous in a short period.

However, to achieve this result, agriculture was sacrificed. It was not so intended, the Russian assumption being that the modernized collective farms would produce increasingly, particularly as mechanized and scientific methods were being applied. It has not worked out that way. The farmer has measured his work against the availability of consumers goods.

Malenkov and Mikoyan believed that they could increase agricultural production by increasing the availability of consumers goods. Unfortunately for their program, Soviet Russia's commitments for armaments could not be postponed and therefore Khrushchev had to make the changes in policy sharp and dramatic. What means he will use to stimulate agricultural production does not yet appear, but the neglect of consumer and light industry cannot affect the peasant unfavorably. Raising his own food, his compensation must be measured in terms of clothing, improved housing and increased luxuries. Otherwise there is no reason for him to put himself out to increase his output.

Stalin never solved the agricultural problem: His various "Five-Year Plans" were for the benefit of heavy industry at the expense of the peasant and the worker, who nevertheless did not rebel for a complex of reasons. Expenditures for atomic experimentation undoubtedly have aggravated this situation. "Focus," a publication of the American Geographical Society, states:

". . . according to a recent American study, real wages in the Soviet Union declined precipitately during the early Five-Year Plans and only now are once again approaching the level of 1928. The amount of housing in cities is reported to have decreased from 64 square feet of floor space per person in 1928 to 46 square feet in 1953. The average urban family of five has a one-room apartment 12 by 19 feet. . . ."

There is no physical reason why Soviet Russia should not be an outstanding industrial and agricultural country. In Czarist times, serfdom, absentee landlordism and an autocratic system of government held the people down. Russia missed the Industrial Revolution of the 18th and 19th centuries altogether. Soviet Russia established a rigid Socialist economy which utilized wealth and resources according to a fixed program rather than by competition. While remarkable progress was made in certain areas of production, as in steel, in others, as in agriculture, the system failed. The incentives for production which manifest themselves in private enterprise do not achieve the same results under Socialism.

For instance, scientists, writers, actors, dancers and party leaders, under the Soviety system, enjoy all the benefits of our society and sometimes more, but there are no small manufacturers who produce such surprising results as the establishment of a great industry, useful in war as well as peace, out of an initial gadget, as in our country.

An astounding condition in Russia is the reduction of oil consumption; less oil being used today as fuel than 50 years ago. Whereas geologists believe that from the Caspian Sea the Urals lie large deposits of petroleum, they have not been developed so far as is known. Coal, which is readily available in the Donets, Kuznetsk, Moscow and Ural basins, both bituminous and lignite, is replacing petroleum as fuel, whereas in the United States, petroleum is replacing coal. In 1901, Russia was producing half the world's supply of petroleum; in 1953, its share was about eight per cent of the world's supply.

Modern agriculture is a phase of a petroleum technique. Modern farming is done by machines that move on oil. Oil drilling consumes quantities of steel which must be available and the use of which cannot be postponed to make arrangements. A modern country must be prepared to provide guns, bombs, butter and petroleum at the same time. The Socialist theory that some items are postponable does not work out in the over-all results.

Khrushchev apparently faces this problem, but what is his solution for it? He is following the Stalinist line of sacrificing everything for heavy industry and armaments. Stalin, however, had the advantage of an $11,000,000,000 gift from the United States and enormous technical assistance. This will not be available for Khrushchev.

Any pressure present should be relieved, foot soaked in warm, not hot, soapy water, and dead skin around corn or callous rubbed off with with gauze. Do not wear circular garters or sit with knees crossed.

Exercises which help imperfect circulation are: Bend the foot up and down as far as it will go six times. Describe a circle to the right with the foot six times and then to the left. Elevate one or both legs at an angle of 45 degrees for one, two or three minutes, followed by hanging them out of the bed for the balance of the five minutes and then keeping them horizontal for the next five minutes. If you have had gangrene or are threatened with it, keep off your feet four or five minutes each hour of the day and fifteen or more minutes if you already have had an amputation.

This is an important point for the Administration, which wants to have local communities solve their own problems instead of relying on the federal government. The states can't meet their own problems till they modernize their laws.

ON OTHER PART OF THIS school shortage problem not sufficiently understood is that it is concentrated largely in city and suburban areas. In rural areas, the problem is largely one of replacing old buildings with more modern schools.

There are 63,000 school districts in the U. S. and this districting is obsolete in many places, Dr. Brownell says.

In 2000 districts—3 per cent of this total—there are 20 million pupils. This is two-thirds of today's total public school population, kindergarten through high school.

This is where schools are scandalously overcrowded. It is in 1300 school systems in cities of over 10,000 population and 700 counties which operate all schools for their city, suburban, village and rural areas.

Members of House Will Be Hampered by Federal Law Affecting Pay Increases

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 8—When Congress raised the pay of its members, it imposed on them a handicap little realized by the public and perhaps by the senators and representatives themselves.

For under the Constitution no member of either House can be appointed to any office in the other branches of the government if the compensation or allowances for those offices have been increased during their terms. Hence, there can be no additions to the federal judiciary from Congress until the current terms of members of both Houses expire.

Thus, members of the House will not become eligible for appointment again to the federal bench until after January 3, 1957, and senators who were elected for six-year terms last fall will not become eligible for appointment as federal judges until after January 3, 1961.

THERE ARE A LOT of vacancies on the federal bench now, and some new justiceships that have been created which are unfilled. It has been customary in the past to fill some of these from among members of Congress. In some instances members of Congress have been appointed to the Supreme Court of the United States while still serving the terms for which they were elected. Notable examples were Senator Hugo Black of Alabama, who was nominated in 1937 by the late President Roosevelt, and Senator Byrnes of South Carolina. Not so many years ago Fred Vinson, who later became chief justice, was appointed by FDR to the Circuit Court of Appeals while serving as chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee.

The raise in pay is a barrier not only to the judiciary but to some other offices. The Constitution says that no member of the House or Senate can be appointed to any government post that has been created during the term in which the member is still serving. If any ambassadorships or positions on any newly created governmental commissions are available, members of Congress cannot be appointed to them while serving out their present terms.

THE EXACT language of the Constitution on this point is as follows:

"No senator or representative shall, during the time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil office under the authority of the United States, which shall have been created, or the emoluments whereof shall have been increased during such time."

Two instances occurred in past history in which members of Congress found themselves in conflict with that provision. One was in 1889, when a senator was appointed minister to Mexico during his term, during which Congress had increased the salary for that office. The attorney general ruled him ineligible.

The other case occurred in 1909 when the late President William Howard Taft appointed Senator Philander C. Knox of Pennsylvania, Republican, to be secretary of state while Mr. Knox was still in Congress. For many weeks nobody raised the point. Then the late Oswald F. Schuette, Washington correspondent of a Chicago newspaper, drew attention to the conflict with the Constitution. Congress saved the day by passing a law reducing the salary of the secretary of state to what it was before Mr. Knox was designated. There has always been a question as to whether the spirit of the Constitution was complied with in that instance.

"ONE MAY CONCEIVE of great abuses which might arise did this prohibition not exist," writes Thomas J. Norton in his book on the Constitution. "Of course, after the term of a senator or representative has expired, he may accept the office created during his term or the office the emoluments of which were increased while he was in Congress."

All this is related to the determination of the founding fathers to keep the legislative and executive branches of the government separate. Thus, the Constitution provides further that "no person holding any office under the United States, shall be a member of either House during his continuance in office."

It cannot be said that even these constitutional provisions have prevented attempts by presidents to dominate Congress through the dangling of prospective appointments before members in order to win or hold their support. Again and again in the cloakrooms of Congress, whispers have been heard that so and so was going along with the administration because he was expecting sooner or later to be appointed to a lifetime judgeship on the federal bench. And this has been rumored under both Democratic and Republican administrations. Certainly the recent pay raise fortuitously eliminates that form of pressure for a while anyway.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

It is plain that the few honest individuals who think a worker has a moral duty to join a union of his fellows simply do not know what they are talking about. Of course, honesty is rare among those who have been raising the current clamor but, for the purpose of this essay, I will dismiss the professional unioneers and party politicians, and even certain grand industrialists who have obvious ulterior selfish motives.

I address my comments to a hypothetical individual who has read of squalor in the coal mines and steel towns of Pennsylvania, of the 12-hour day and bitter poverty, always in the presence of company police and company "influence" from the cradle, bought in a company store, to the grave in a company plot.

To sweeten the pot, let me remind those who came in a few years late that back in the '40s I learned that President Roosevelt's family, on the Delano side, had two coal fields in Pennsylvania, each with a company town and appropriate fixings, including private goons, often called cossacks in Pennsylvania, to run the organizers out of town.

One year the mines closed down and dramatic photographs were published, though only narrowly, for this was lese-majeste, of food spoiled and wasted in the company stores while children of the miners hungered.

At last, John L. Lewis got his Wagner Act, and that very day sent organizers into the Roosevelt towns to sign up the serfs who appear to have been sincerely eager to escape one thrall into another.

The Cossacks rebuffed them so they telephoned Lewis in Washington who ordered them to go back and tell the captain of the Cossacks that if they did not take down the toll-gate barriers and let the organizers freely in to their business, Mr. Lewis would issue a statement in Washington.

An hour or so later, the organizers phoned Lewis again that all was merry as a marriage bell in the Roosevelt company towns of the coalbelt.

It seemed that the managers had phoned the company's New York office which had consulted the White House and that by this sweet suasion John L. Lewis finally conquered the last and certainly the most fascinating company towns in Pennsylvania.

I trust that someone will remind me not to omit this classical item of history from the book I am fixing to do on the Roosevelts when I have reached the lean and slippered pantaloon.

I am sometimes scolded for digression, but to me digression is a fault only if it fails in interest. Most professors will uphold me if only in their own defense.

What do these theoretical honest persons mean by a "union"? They think of a union as a group of workers come together of their own volition in their own mutual interest, inevitably in conflict with the employer. He is known by the short and ugly name of boss and his interest is bound to conflict with theirs. They want money from him which he wants to keep for himself.

That is what a union is in the simplest terms but also in the only honest terms applicable to such an organization.

But what is the reality?

A typical reality is Dubinsky's garment workers. The members are needle-workers in low pay brackets. But Dubinsky's treasury is about $150 millions and the workers in the ranks have nothing to say about the way he uses it. He runs an insurance company for them, which is not the proper business of a union at all.

He also runs a clinic in New York, employing, incidentally, a former Russian Communist who came to this country to pass counterfeit American money for the Soviet government and was sent to prison. He claims that he has abandoned communism but at last reports he was not permitted to practice medicine for Dubinsky because of his criminal record. Therefore, he was employed around the pharmacy.

Well, after all, must a loyal, simple American workman involve himself in all dark, Labyrinthian activities just to provide himself with a spokesman to argue with the boss about pay, hours and the lighting and heating of the factory?

He certainly must. And does.

Dubinsky also maintains a local political party as a subsidiary of the union in New York State and a worldwide political espionage and propaganda machine, somehow, but very mysteriously, involved with the State Department, at a cost of how much money to the union members, nobody has ever been told. It is none of the workers' business!

So now this simple needle-worker is engaged in weird international politics and promoting "Socialism," as distinguished from communism, in many nations but subject to no interference on his part. Maybe the worker is a Republican isolationist who wants no truck with foreign lands and would not think of promoting socialism anywhere. He may be one of those who hold that Marx is the spirit of both socialism and communism and that both violate his principles. Maybe so, but he can't do anything about it.

But can't he vote Dubinsky out of office, seize executive control of the garment workers, and wind up the insurance business and the private state department promoting socialism and spying overseas?

Well, what do you think?

Dubinsky has been president since 1932; John L. Lewis has been president of the miners since 1920; Dan Tobin was president of the teamsters for more than 40 years; Joe Moreschi has been president of the hodcarriers about 25 years and never was elected but just succeeded to the job in a racket which did not hold a convention in 32 years and has not held a valid election in almost 40 years; and Bill Maloney, the boss of the operating engineers, has been up there for 15 years and will have the job for life.

How are elections run?

The methods vary but in all cases the system is such that the powers re-elect themselves. I have a collection of a hundred Hitlerian ballots of unions with no opposition candidates.

The American union is the most un-American institution that we have. No loyal American has the slightest moral obligation, indeed he scarcely has an excuse, to join one.

Opening Bid Cause Of Lifted Eyebrows

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

When South opened the bidding with one no-trump, North could hardly believe his ears. He had a count of 21 points, and his partner announced 16 to 18 points. The combined count was therefore 37 to 39 points of the 40 points in the deck. The opponents couldn't have more than 3 points and might not even have that.

After thinking it over, North decided to jump right to the grand slam. There didn't seem to be much advantage in making exploratory bids and he might confuse his partner into dropping some cue bid. Incidentally there's much to be said for this sort of reasoning, although a jump from one to seven is high.

South won the opening club lead in the dummy with the queen of clubs and counted 12 tricks in top cards. He was sorry that he had the wasted jack of hearts instead of the jack of clubs; or that he didn't have an extra small heart.

Since he had to make do with what he actually held, South decided to play for the queen of diamonds to drop, or for a 3-3 club break, or for a squeeze.

As a preliminary maneuver, declarer cashed the king of clubs. East discarded a small spade, thus making it perfectly obvious that the clubs were not going to break 3-3. South now had a count on the clubs, however, and could keep track of that suit. This was going to be important in the play for a squeeze.

Declarer continued by running all the spades and hearts, discarding the low diamond from his hand. West could afford to discard only one club, since one additional club discard would allow declarer to cash the club ace and get to his hand with a diamond to win a trick with his last low club. West had to discard three times on the spades, and therefore had to part with two diamonds.

South still didn't know whether or not anything favorable had happened in diamonds, but he knew that the clubs were still guarded. He therefore laid down the ace and king of diamonds, thus dropping West's unguarded queen. Dummy took the last two tricks with the ace of clubs and the jack of diamonds.

Land Fill Project

329 East Union St.
Kingston, N. Y.
March 7, 1955

Editor, The Freeman

I would appreciate the publication in your paper of this letter which contains the main thoughts I expressed at the public hearing last Thursday evening on the question of the land fill project at Kingston Point and which were not published in the news reports of the meeting.

One of the arguments Mayor Frederick H. Stang has presented for the sanitary refill dump at Kingston Point is that they would beautify that section.

I have lived on the bank overlooking this area all my life and my friends and I consider the view over the swamp, the Kingston Point Island and the near by lagoon one of the finest in the city. For a hundred years or more, Kingston Point has been known as one of the beauty spots along the river. The swamp itself is lovely too. In the fall the hundreds of trees with their changing colors are a grand sight. Trees are beautiful at all times of the year. Many of our song birds nest there and their calls and songs can be plainly heard and enjoyed.

The lagoon at high tide is equally beautiful and interesting with all the water birds and swamp vegetation. It is all God's natural beauty.

Just how replacing this with a man made refill from the waste of thirty thousand people is most difficult to imagine. No, indeed, man can not improve on natural beauty by covering the city refuse with sand.

Further, I would like to point out that placing a seven foot fence around the area would not begin to hide the dumping and covering operations from the top of the forty foot bank where people live and enjoy the view.

Respectfully yours,

Value of Forester Is Told As Regards Our Economy

What is a forester?

The average person thinks that he is a man who watches for forest fires from a tower or patrols a trail on horseback.

"He's much more than that," says Professor Ralph G. Unger, chairman of the extension department at the State University College of Forestry in Syracuse and a forester in his own right.

"The training of a professional forester is similar to that of an engineer and is based on both the biological and physical sciences," he adds. "The forester of today serves wherever wood is grown or used. Graduates of forestry colleges work not only in forests but also in pulp and paper mills, furniture factories, sawmills, and other wood conversion industries."

SOME OF THE MEN become managers of forests. Their college training enables them to survey the boundaries of the property to determine location and size. They take an inventory of the kinds and sizes of the trees to determine the total volume of standing timber. Estimating rate of growth, they decide how much timber can be safely and wisely taken out of the forest. Their main aim in all these operations is to preserve the forest.

Forest managers must know how to construct roads, bridges, and trails. They must be alert to hazards of fire, disease, and insect attacks.

More than half of the graduates of the State University College of Forestry are employed in forest products industries. They received their fundamental training in the physical and chemical properties of wood. Some operate research laboratories for their employers and others take charge of some phase of the manufacture of wood products. They are actually timber or woods engineers with a high degree of technical background.

STILL OTHER foresters are wildlife managers, using their thorough knowledge of the forest to provide better conditions for the wildlife living in the woods.

The college trains some of its students to become landscape architects designing and operating parks, recreational campsites, and other facilities involving wooded land.

Among other professional foresters are the operators of forest and ornamental tree nurseries and tree care service, and private consultants to forest land owners.

Several scores of trained men are in public education, keeping the people informed about forest practices. By means of talks, publications, exhibits and radio and television programs, they bring useful information to forest property owners and wood users.

Further opportunities for employment in the profession of forestry are found in forestry schools and colleges in teaching and research.

During the past 50 years 24,500 men have received degrees from forestry colleges and schools. At present, about 16,000 professional foresters are employed in the United States in forestry and related fields. They work for about 14 different federal government bureaus and departments such as the Forest Service, which employs the most, about 2,500 trained men. Other federal agencies employing foresters include the Soil Conservation service, the National Park Service, and the Fish and Wildlife Service. More than 40 states have conservation departments in which there are trained foresters working.

MANY PRIVATE corporations employ foresters both as managers of their woodlands and as production technicians in the mills that use the wood grown on company-owned forest property. Two of these private companies employ more than 100 foreigners each. Among the many large corporations employing foresters are the Weyerhaeuser Timber Co., Long-Bell Lumber Co., Johns-Manville Corp., St. Regis Papers Co., International Paper Co., Southern Kraft Corp., and Kimberly-Clark Corp.

Professor Unger, who graduated from the State University College of Forestry, says that a forester should be "the type of man who gets pleasure from service as well as satisfaction from his pay check.

"With the four or more years of college training and a sense of service, he will always enjoy as high a place in the community as other professional people like doctors, lawyers, and teachers," he concludes.

Regarded as Pest

Although stands of dogwood are classed as splashes of beauty by many nature lovers, the trees are regarded as a pest by forestry experts.

Former Pastor Dies

Hyde Park, March 8 (AP)—The Rev. Edward T. Randolph, 83, former pastor of the Hyde Park Reformed Church, died Sunday after a long illness. A surviving daughter, Mrs. John C. Diehl of Hyde Park, said she recalls that 40 years ago her father was pronounced dead of pneumonia but that her mother, Mary Emma, "refused to believe it." Mrs. Diehl said her mother administered artificial respiration for several hours to her then 43-year-old father and revived him. Mrs. Randolph died in 1936.

Land Fill Project

Kingston, N. Y.

Editor, The Freeman

I would appreciate the publication in your paper of this letter which contains the main thoughts I expressed at the public hearing last Thursday evening on the question of the land fill project at Kingston Point and which were not published in the news reports of the meeting.

One of the arguments Mayor Frederick H. Stang has presented for the sanitary refill dump at Kingston Point is that they would beautify that section.

I have lived on the bank overlooking this area all my life and my friends and I consider the view over the swamp, the Kingston Point Island and the near by lagoon one of the finest in the city. For a hundred years or more, Kingston Point has been known as one of the beauty spots along the river. The swamp itself is lovely too. In the fall the hundreds of trees with their changing colors are a grand sight. Trees are beautiful at all times of the year. Many of our song birds nest there and their calls and songs can be plainly heard and enjoyed.

The lagoon at high tide is equally beautiful and interesting with all the water birds and swamp vegetation. It is all God's natural beauty.

KC Communion Passion Sunday

The annual corporate communion and breakfast of Kingston Council, 275, Knights of Columbus will be held Passion Sunday, March 27 at Immaculate Conception Church on Delaware avenue, Edward J. Ahl, chairman of the committee, announced today.

This annual communion breakfast is one of the local council's major activities and is always very well attended. The breakfast will be served immediately following the Mass at the Knights of Columbus auditorium.

John H. McManus, advocate of Kingston Council, who is in charge of the Speakers' Committee, stated that arrangements now are being made to secure a speaker with a timely message for the gathering. Tickets may be secured from Mr. Ahl, Mr. McManus or from any member of the committee. Those who plan to attend are urged to make arrangements early.

The Mature Parent

Here's Assurance That Teens Still Heed Parents' Example

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

The attitude of parents toward alcoholic beverages becomes the attitude of their teen-age child.

If we drink excessively or frequently, so will our adolescent son and daughter. If we do not drink at all, our child, if he drinks at all, will drink most sparingly of any member of his age group.

This is the finding of research into the drinking habits of New York's Nassau County high school students. Made by Hofstra College's Bureau of Social Research, the study is the first of others planned by the Bureau's director, Dr. Matthew Chappell.

What delights me about the finding is its assurance that parental example is still the most potent influence upon the adolescent child.

It is revolutionary news.

For years now, the news has been that Johnny's "group" wields the most potent influence upon him. We have been asked to feel sympathy for the poor boy's confusion with his "group's" influence conflicts with ours. We've been told to "understand" that to retain his "status" in it, he may have to permit it to control him.

We've been warned of the psychological damage he suffers if we deny him the late hours, driving speeds, sloppy clothing and other oddments that command the fetish worship of his age clan. Now, this finding contradicts it all. It tells us that it is our behavior, not his "crowd's" that really controls Johnny.

I am grateful for it. For the talk about Johnny's preference for his "crowd's" example has given American parents the loveliest kind of alibi to evade giving him a good example of their own.

We have unconsciously figured, "All right, if Johnny's self-confidence depends on imitation of his friends' behavior, I'm relieved from the chore of checking on mine."

Thus, this talk has abetted lax conduct in parents — and encouraged us to relinquish the moral instruction and control of our adolescent child to his equally inexperienced friends.

There is no substitute for parental example in the discipline of children of any age.

Those of us who have always known this are not surprised by Dr. Chappell's confirmation. It will, however, hearten us to render more faithful obedience to the principles we live by, trusting that obedience to exert its old, immemorial control on the child we love.

There is nothing mystic about the influence of disciplined example of a teen-age child. Since the human race first emerged from the caves, we have been profoundly affected by the action of some respected teacher.

SKIS HELP HIM LOG GOOD DAY'S WORK.—This logger is skiing on the job, but he's not doing it for sport. He's Kenneth Lambert, assistant chief scaler at the Brown Co., Berlin, N. H. Recently Brown's wanted to know how much wood was stored in a section of the Androscoggin River, above Berlin. Lambert hit upon an idea. He borrowed a pair of skis, hooked one end of a light rope to his belt and started "skiing" across the log-packed river. Arriving at the other side, the rope was pulled back and measured to determine the exact width of the stream at a given point. The length of other sections also was measured. Then it was simple arithmetic to figure the quantity of wood. Now the Brown Co., is planning to design special skis for "log-hopping."

WITH THE SUM OF $2,717,000 SET as this year's goal, 392 parishes in the New York Archdiocese have entered the planning stages of the 36th annual New York Catholic Charities fund appeal. Francis Cardinal Spellman, chairman of the drive, has designated the period from April 24 to May 4 for house-to-house solicitation in the parishes, with local priests acting as district managers. Pictured above, discussing organizational plans with the Right Rev. Monsignor James J. Lynch, director of the appeal, are the district managers for the 39 parishes of Sullivan, Ulster and Rockland counties. They are, left to right, the Rev. John J. Scanlon, St. Peter's, Monticello, for Sullivan county; the Rev. James P. Keating, St. Joseph's, Kingston, for Ulster county; Monsignor Lynch and the Rev. Thomas F. Mooney, St. Ann's, Nyack, for Rockland county.

PLANS SPECIAL LECTURE—Dr. A. F. Mahler of Horseheads, who is conducting a series of meetings at the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church, corner of Franklin and Pine streets, will deliver a special lecture at the church Wednesday at 7:45 p. m. Dr. Mahler, Jewish evangelist, is shown in the garments he wears in the demonstration of the Passover Feast. The services continue each night through Sunday, March 13. Dr. Mahler was born in a Jewish orthodox home and has lectured througnout part of the country. He came to the U. S. from Austria. The public is invited to attend these services.

Weekly Lenten Service Listed

The regular mid-week Lenten vespers will be held Wednesday at 7:45 p. m., at the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Wurts and Rogers streets, with the pastor, the Rev. David C. Gaise, conducting the service. This period of congregational meditation will center around the theme-hymn, Our God, our Help in Ages Past and the pastor will speak on the phrase from the hymn, Not like Kingdoms of this World. This is one of the current series of Lenten devotions based on great hymns of the church.

The service will open with a chorale prelude, The Cross, our True and Only Hope by Penick, played by Mrs. Lester Decker at the organ. The order for vespers will include a penitential psalm and the reading of a portion of the history of Christ's passion. The senior choir, under the direction of Leonard Stine will sing the anthem, O for a Closer Walk With God by Foster. Following the pastor's meditation, there will be a period of prayer with opportunity for private intercession followed by the benediction. Mrs. Decker will play as a postlude Guilmant's Andante Sostenuto.

The senior choir rehearsal and a meeting of the pastor's discussion class for new members will follow the service. Visitors are welcome to share in the Lenten services of worship.

SKIS HELP HIM LOG GOOD DAY'S WORK.—This logger is skiing on the job, but he's not doing it for sport. He's Kenneth Lambert, assistant chief scaler at the Brown Co., Berlin, N. H. Recently Brown's wanted to know how much wood was stored in a section of the Androscoggin River, above Berlin. Lambert hit upon an idea. He borrowed a pair of skis, hooked one end of a light rope to his belt and started "skiing" across the log-packed river. Arriving at the other side, the rope was pulled back and measured to determine the exact width of the stream at a given point. The length of other sections also was measured. Then it was simple arithmetic to figure the quantity of wood. Now the Brown Co., is planning to design special skis for "log-hopping."

WITH THE SUM OF $2,717,000 SET as this year's goal, 392 parishes in the New York Archdiocese have entered the planning stages of the 36th annual New York Catholic Charities fund appeal. Francis Cardinal Spellman, chairman of the drive, has designated the period from April 24 to May 4 for house-to-house solicitation in the parishes, with local priests acting as district managers. Pictured above, discussing organizational plans with the Right Rev. Monsignor James J. Lynch, director of the appeal, are the district managers for the 39 parishes of Sullivan, Ulster and Rockland counties. They are, left to right, the Rev. John J. Scanlon, St. Peter's, Monticello, for Sullivan county; the Rev. James P. Keating, St. Joseph's, Kingston, for Ulster county; Monsignor Lynch and the Rev. Thomas F. Mooney, St. Ann's, Nyack, for Rockland county.

PLANS SPECIAL LECTURE—Dr. A. F. Mahler of Horseheads, who is conducting a series of meetings at the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church, corner of Franklin and Pine streets, will deliver a special lecture at the church Wednesday at 7:45 p. m. Dr. Mahler, Jewish evangelist, is shown in the garments he wears in the demonstration of the Passover Feast. The services continue each night through Sunday, March 13. Dr. Mahler was born in a Jewish orthodox home and has lectured througnout part of the country. He came to the U. S. from Austria. The public is invited to attend these services.

Weekly Lenten Service Listed

The regular mid-week Lenten vespers will be held Wednesday at 7:45 p. m., at the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Wurts and Rogers streets, with the pastor, the Rev. David C. Gaise, conducting the service. This period of congregational meditation will center around the theme-hymn, Our God, our Help in Ages Past and the pastor will speak on the phrase from the hymn, Not like Kingdoms of this World. This is one of the current series of Lenten devotions based on great hymns of the church.

The service will open with a chorale prelude, The Cross, our True and Only Hope by Penick, played by Mrs. Lester Decker at the organ. The order for vespers will include a penitential psalm and the reading of a portion of the history of Christ's passion. The senior choir, under the direction of Leonard Stine will sing the anthem, O for a Closer Walk With God by Foster. Following the pastor's meditation, there will be a period of prayer with opportunity for private intercession followed by the benediction. Mrs. Decker will play as a postlude Guilmant's Andante Sostenuto.

The senior choir rehearsal and a meeting of the pastor's discussion class for new members will follow the service. Visitors are welcome to share in the Lenten services of worship.

Taylor Is Named Far East Leader

Taylor, March 8 (AP)—Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor was named U. S. Far East commander and head of the United Nations command today.

Affective April 1, he will succeed Gen. John E. Hull, who is retiring at his own request after 37 years in the army.

Appointment of the multilingual Taylor was expected. He has been given increasing responsibilities in recent months until he commanded all ground forces in Japan, South Korea and Okinawa. A joint annoucement in Tokyo and Washington said Taylor was getting the post.

HULL WILL SPEND a month in the office of the chief of staff of the army in Washington before he retires. He has been Far East commander since October, 1953.

Taylor assumed command of the 8th Army in Korea on Feb. 11, 1953. His place as commander of ground forces in Japan, Okinawa and South Korea will be taken by Lt. Gen Lyman L. Lemnitzer, deputy chief of staff for plans and research. Lemintzer will be replaced by Maj. Gen. James M. Gavin, assistant chief of staff for operations.

TAYLOR, in Singapore now, is touring Malaya and Thailand to check on the military situation there.

He is known for his record of bravery and a quiet, studious personality which does not advertise his knowledge of eight languages, including the three tongues most important in the part of Asia where he has seen the most service—Japanese, Chinese and Korean.

In World War 2 Taylor went on a dangerous mission behind the lines prior to the Italian surrender and rejoined his surrounded division in the Basogne Forest by a daring parachute jump.

Immanuel Lenten Service March 9

The third midweek Lenten service will be held in Immanuel Lutheran Church Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. The Rev. Ernest I. Witte will preach on The Collapse of the Cross Bearer.

All who attend the service will receive a picture depicting this episode in the Passion of Christ.

The third lesson of the Passion History will be read. The choir will sing a seasonal anthem. The organist, Fay Ronald Richert, will give a recital of Lenten selections before the service. The public is invited.

Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

Please, God, forbid any man to state: "My tongue is the law." If so, America, as a nation of free people, is finished.

There is a Godly way of life on earth; and we have it. It is based on the Bible and the Constitution — our right to be equal before God and the law.

Mr. Hutton

My right to make this statement. Your right to read it; and your right not to read it.

And, neighbor, every single right you enjoy from morning until night, all your freedom from fear — are yours because you are an American citizen and have your Constitution and its Bill of Rights. Protect it from those who want to make our nation a Planned Economy — a government of, by, and for the governors.

But some people say: "Master, here I am. Put on the ball and chain. Make me your slave. I am thy chattel. You, the State, are all there is."

We were once a weak nation, but had liberty. We were "short" on everything but the right to exercise the FREEDOM OF ENTERPRISE. And so we became a beacon to the world—and to people everywhere who wanted to be free.

Benjamin J. Hill stated: "The Constitution is my only client. Its preservation is the only fee I ask."

Neighbor, that is a platform we can all stand on.

BOB STEELE, former Olympic and wrestling champion, and a well-known business man in Kingston, was guest speaker in an assembly for Loyrne Connick's and Mr. Ballin's retailing classes March 2. Mr. Steele explained how he started his business career. The topic of discussion was "showmanship in selling." Mr. Steele said that he learned most of his retailing showmanship through the wrestling field. His main theme in selling was: "You have to build up the buyers confidence in the seller."

A resident of Kingston for nine years, Mr. Steele is married and is the father of six children. He started his wrestling career after he was discharged from service and from there he went into his own business.

THE NEW YORK examination for the Regents Scholarship and the Cornell Scholarship was held at KHS March 1 in morning and afternoon sessions and Wednesday, March 2, morning session. The students who had filed an application to a New York State College were eligible to take this examination.

The seniors who took the exam were as follows: Louis Aprea, Madeline Barnovitz, Bonita Albers, Parker Black, Lois Brown, Clark Bundy, Phillip Bunting, Peter Cain, Bernard Carpenelli, Joseph Carpino, George Clark, George Dahl, Margaret Danford, Carolyn DeWitt, George Dixon, Albert Donnestad, Richard Dwyer.

Also Nancy Ellsworth, Myron Epstein, Estelle Fatum, Barbara Finley, James Foster, Sande Galate, Jane Gunter, Jackie Haulenbeek, Richard Herd, Edward Hill, Will Husta, Henry Jacobs, Herbert Kirschner, Thomas Lamb, Gay Lasher, Elaine Macholdt, Robert McNierney, Barbara Ann Miller, Joe Montella, and James Nerone.

MR. BALLIN'S Retailing 1 classes sponsored a demonstration by the National Cash Register Company. Lawrence Geuss, a former Kingston High School student and now a salesman for the National Cash Register Company, was in charge of this demonstration.

Mr. Geuss pointed out that everyone in retail selling has two major duties. One is to handle the money and merchandise correctly, and second is to build goodwill for the store.

This register was one of National's newest models. It adds up the total sales, subtracts the amount given to the retailer by the consumer, and states the correct amount of change the consumer is to receive. Some of the students participated in the demonstration and this was followed by a question answer period.

Mr. Geuss said that there are many opportunities for high school graduates with the National Cash Register Co.

NEW PALTZ NEWS

Village Board Notes

New Paltz, March 8—At the Feb. 28 meeting of the Village Board, with all members present, the following were appointed to serve as election inspectors: George Ackert, Margaret Morris and Chester Smith.

Ray Morris, building inspector, gave a detailed report on his trip to New York city where at the Hotel New Yorker he attended a school for building inspectors. Many new materials were introduced to the group and shown how to be used. Morris said it was brought out that many fires could be prevented if there were a regular inspection of oil burning and other heating equipment. Also of importance is the licensing of plumbers, since it was brought out, the plumber's job is of great responsibility so far as the health and welfare of the individual family are concerned. Especially so is the importance of the proper installation of automatic washing machines, since it has been found that improper installation can lead to a serious situation with the backing up of water, etc.

MRS. CHARLES HUNTINGTON, representing the Garden Club, told the board the club feels the shrubbery and dogwood trees planted on the municipal grounds are in dire need of peat moss and fertilizer, and an arrangement will be made between the club and village employes to see that the job is taken care of.

In reply to a letter from a citizen in regards to the water condition in the village, Mayor Reid gave the following explanation. It has been necessary to tap from the reservoir towards the end of the week when the wells are drained rather low, until they again fill up. It is on these days that the water is discolored and has a noticeable taste. However, the mayor assured the people there is nothing wrong with this water. Seven new wells are being drilled, and as soon as they are completed, and tested, it is hoped they will serve satisfactorily.

A LETTER OF RESIGNATION was read and accepted with deep regret by all, from Kelly Campbell who leaves this month to assume his new position in the federal government in Washington, D. C. Mr. Campbell told those present it has been a "great source of pride and pleasure to him to be able to serve New Paltz, and "New Paltz is a grand place to live and work." Campbell's vacancy will be filled by appointment of the board after election day.

Trustees Marinus Petersen and Kelly Campbell met with the members of the Town Board concerning the contract of the village dump. Since the contract is not satisfactory to the town board no agreement has yet been reached.

IT WAS DECIDED to install an 8-inch cast iron water main in Harrington street, and to install 12-inch storm sewers in Millrock road and Grove street.

The treasurer gave his report as follows: Parking meter receipts for February were $461.39, and since June 1, $5,115.47. The taxes taken in for the month of February totaled $1,130.39 plus the interest of $96.02 making a total of $1,226.41. Outstanding taxes amount to $147.24. A reminder that there will be a tax sale on March 12 at 10 a. m. The water rents collected were $289.65 and the sewer rents $82.63.

Libya has no rivers, canals, or fresh waters and gets very little rain.

1955 GIRL SCOUT POSTER—A Scout in New York City displays poster featuring this year's Girl Scout theme, "Believe, Belong, Build." Some two million girls throughout the country are celebrating their special week ending March 12, the 43rd birthday of the Girl Scouts of America.

New Paltz Aide Goes to Capital

Kelly Campbell, financial secretary of State University Teachers College at New Paltz, has accepted a position in Washington, D. C. with the U. S. Bureau of the Budget. He will assume his new duties March 28, and expects to be assigned to the Bureau's Military Division with the Department of the Air Force.

A resident of New Paltz since November, 1951, Campbell was elected a member of the Village Board in March of last year. His resignation as board member was accepted with regret at the board's last meeting, held February 28.

Prior to coming to New Paltz, Campbell spent five months with the Department of Civil Service in Albany. He attended graduate school at the University of Pennsylvania.

Kelly will leave for Washington later this month. His family will join him after the close of school in June.

Trustees Marinus Petersen and Kelly Campbell met with the members of the Town Board concerning the contract of the village dump. Since the contract is not satisfactory to the town board no agreement has yet been reached.

IT WAS DECIDED to install an 8-inch cast iron water main in Harrington street, and to install 12-inch storm sewers in Millrock road and Grove street.

The treasurer gave his report as follows: Parking meter receipts for February were $461.39, and since June 1, $5,115.47. The taxes taken in for the month of February totaled $1,130.39 plus the interest of $96.02 making a total of $1,226.41. Outstanding taxes amount to $147.24. A reminder that there will be a tax sale on March 12 at 10 a. m. The water rents collected were $289.65 and the sewer rents $82.63.

New Paltz Aide Goes to Capital

Kelly Campbell, financial secretary of State University Teachers College at New Paltz, has accepted a position in Washington, D. C. with the U. S. Bureau of the Budget. He will assume his new duties March 28, and expects to be assigned to the Bureau's Military Division with the Department of the Air Force.

A resident of New Paltz since November, 1951, Campbell was elected a member of the Village Board in March of last year. His resignation as board member was accepted with regret at the board's last meeting, held February 28.

Prior to coming to New Paltz, Campbell spent five months with the Department of Civil Service in Albany. He attended graduate school at the University of Pennsylvania.

Kelly will leave for Washington later this month. His family will join him after the close of school in June.

Silver Plays Leading Role In New Electronics Age

New York, March 8 (AP)—Silver has marched into industry with the electronics age. And this year more of that metal is going into industrial products than into silverware, jewelry or the arts.

Two chief talking points for silver's use in industry are: 1. Its boosters say silver is "the best conductor of electricity known to man. 2. They say that silver alloys used to join two metals make so strong a solder that the metal parts themselves will break before the silver joint will.

Last year wasn't too good for the silver people, however. Some 85 million ounces were used by U. S. industries and in the arts. But this was a drop of 19 per cent from the year before, and the lowest since 1941.

HANDY & HARMAN—which began as a silver brokerage firm in 1867 but is now primarily a silver manufacturing and research organization — blames the drop on last year's slowdown in the heavy industries where silver is used.

For silver goes into autos, farm tractors, bicycles, dishwashers, washing machines, sewing machines, lawn mowers, guns and phones, as well as into TV and radio sets, radar equipment and the like. Also, the silverware and jewelry makers had some bad months last year.

Use this year is picking up with the general business revival. Production of many of the durable goods that use silver has increased.

NOW SILVER MEN are eyeing a new field in TV and radio set production, that of electrical circuits printed on paper and using silver as the ink. The current follows the silver to where the electricity is needed.

The printed sheet of circuits substitutes for the maze of wires in older sets. Thus new sets can be made smaller and more compact. General Electric engineers estimate that perhaps one million sets with printed wiring will be made this year.

Silver has plenty of competition in industry from other metals.

At 85¼ cents an ounce—silver's price for more than two years—it is an expensive metal.

Copper and aluminum are much cheaper conductors of electricity. And not even the most avid silver man contends that electric power and telephone companies should string silver across the land.

BASER METALS are much cheaper as solder. But silver men have some sales points for certain uses. Because of a low melting point, silver solder flows easily and a small quantity does an effective job, lowering unit costs.

Silver is adaptable to mass production use, they say. Two metal parts to be joined are brought together, with a workman inserting silver alloys between them in the form of wire or ring. The entire assembly is sent through a heat process and the two metals are strongly joined. Your family percolator, toaster or electric stove may have such joints.

IN REFRIGERATORS and air conditioners, silver is used to make leak-tight non-corrosive joints of the pipes. Its ductility keeps the joint from cracking or breaking when jarred or strained, silver men say.

They add that because of silver solder cuts down on handling and eliminates the labor costs of threading pipes, considerable silver is to be found in the piping jobs under indoor ice skating rinks.

Now the silver research technicians are studying the problems of joining some of the newer industrial materials, like titanium.

Comforter Church To Hold Service

The third mid-week Lenten service at the Reformed Church of the Comforter on the theme Songs of the Cross will be held at the Church Wednesday evening at 7:30 p. m. At that time the Rev. Forrest R. Prindle, pastor, will preach on The Shadow of the Cross. Mrs. George Aird, alto soloist, will sing "Beneath the Cross of Jesus from which the pastor will take the theme of his sermon of the evening.

Pastor Prindle will be assisted in the service by the senior choir under the direction of Frank Elmendorf. The organist, Paul Barnum, will have as his special music of the evening Air in D by Bach and Ronde a'Amour by Westerhoudt.

The Senior Choir will rehearse following the service.

UP AND AT 'EM—Here for the first time, the USAF's newest operational all-weather interceptor—the Northrop Scorpion F-89D—is depicted "scrambling" to intercept an attacking bomber. Warning from powerful ground radar search unit brings pilots and radar observers (1) racing to Scorpions already fueled and fully armed with 104 high-explosive air-to-air rockets. Full power from its twin turbojet engines sends the F-89 streaking skyward (2) to intercept the aerial invader. Within a few minutes, the 600-mile-per-hour plane bores its way more than eight miles high on a near-vertical climb. Shopping Center Will Be Opened

Final preparations have been completed for the March 11 reopening of the former Walden Valley Shopping Center under new ownership and with the addition of many new concessions as well as a new name.

The re-opened market will be called the Wallkill Valley Shopping Center. It will occupy the same tract of land as the former market. Improvements in parking facilities and approaches are planned to make entrance easier from different directions.

One of the outstanding features of the Wallkill Valley Shopping Center is the installation of a modern super market, complete with the latest in electrically controlled charge-out booths and conveyor belt handling tables. This not only accelerates service but adds greatly to customer convenience and ease of shopping. Other new features are: complete furniture store, a discount house and additional concession under negotiation. The staple lines, handled in the previous market, will of course be included in the new re-opened market: vegetables, dairy and eggs, meats, auto supplies, apparel as well as an auction.

Simplified Signals Are Agreed Upon

Washington, March 8 (AP)—The United States and Canada have worked out new simplified signals to be sounded on sirens, horns and other warning devices in the event of enemy air attack.

The new signals, effective at once, were announced last night by the federal civil service system. They are:

1. Alert signal—A steady blast of three to five minutes on warning devices.

2. Take cover signal—A wailing tone or a series of short blasts continuing for three minutes.

THE ANNOUUNCEMENT, released from federal civil defense headquarters at Battle Creek, Mich., did not mention an all-clear signal.

Civil Defense officials said they believe "the public can be more readily trained to recognize" the new signals, which supersede all previous warning instructions.

In most target areas, the civil defense announcement said, the alert signal will indicate evacuation. In most non-target areas, it will call for mobilization of civil defense forces.

Man Lifts 41 Tons of Leather Daily, So Firm Figures

BY HAL BOYLE

New York (AP)—Items from an oddity almanac:

Are men's shoes taking years off their lives?

A leather firm has raised the question whether the fact women wear much lighter footgear may partly explain why they live longer than men . . . men's light summer shoes weigh three pounds a pair, heavy winter shoes five pounds or more.

This firm figured the average man lifts a foot 33,000 times a day or a total of 41¼ tons of leather—if he is wearing shoes that weigh five pounds a pair . . . by wearing light shoes that weigh a pound less each he can take a load of 16½ tons off his feet every day . . .

(Maybe if we went barefoot, fellows, or better yet, stayed in bed all day, we'd live to be 100!)

THE WORLD OF TOMORROW: Fred Pittera, automotive showman, predicts speeds of 150 miles an hour will be commonplace on super-highways 25 years from now . . . accidents will be cut to a minimum . . . motorists will wear safety helmets as well as safety belts.

ALMANAC TRAVEL NOTES: More people in this world live on rice than on daily bread . . . but rice-short Japan is now trying to get more of its population to switch to wheat. . . . Some six million Japanese children in elementary schools now get bread at luncheon. . . . The country also is going in for television in a big way. . . . What are the most popular programs? Baseball, wrestling, boxing—and old movies!

ODD FACTS: The giant new spectacular sign in Times Square, advertising a soft drink, has 35,000 light bulbs, and a 50,000-gallon-a-minute waterfall. A recent survey showed grade school students misspelled the simple word "question" in 152 different ways. . . . But a common word that teen-agers often find hardest to spell is "etiquette." . . . Whether this proves anything, we don't know.

ALMANAC PERSONALITY: Frank Luther, known as "the Bing Crosby of the sandpile set," believes he has told more stories to more children than anybody in history. . . . At 55, Luther, who has been a cowboy, prizefighter, evangelist, detective and operatic tenor, has made 950 records for children since 1930, sales have reached the 65 million mark. . . . Frank, who has two kids of his own, holds this theory about children:

"A child's emotional patterns are set for life by the time he is two years old. When he's six he speaks with his father's accent, he gossips about the neighbors like his mother, and he has the same attitudes toward other races and religions in life in general that those close to and around him have. . . . In other words, whatever you do to yourself, you do to your children, too.

THE ALMANAC ODDS SHEET: Anybody who wants to gamble but doesn't feel like supporting racehorses can still lose his money in a respectable way by backing a Broadway show or drilling for oil. . . . We don't have the odds at hand against your chances of getting rich quick on Broadway. But of 10,675 wildcat oil wells drilled in 1953, 9,254 did nothing but stir up dust. Only 13.3 per cent found oil.

Getting back to longevity, Henry J. Boyce of Providence, R. I., recently reached 96, was paid off by his life insurance company . . . and gave this recipe for a long life:

"Good food, good drink, good companions and good luck."

His business? Boyce has an interest in a funeral home!

Sweden has one two-wheeled motor vehicle for every 24 inhabitants and believes that no other country has so high a ratio.

Colonial Rebekahs' 50th Anniversary Marked at Meeting

Colonial Rebekah Lodge No. 48 celebrated their 50th anniversary Monday evening, Feb. 28. District Deputy president, Evelyn Hobey and her staff of Ulster district officers were introduced at the gathering.

Members presented with gifts were Mrs. Mary Schrader, who joined the Lodge in 1905; Mrs. Viola Saulpaugh, first D. D. president in Ulster district; Mrs. Martha Rand who joined in 1901.

Officers and guests were welcomed by Noble Grand Mary Cooper, and a candlelight service was given by Mrs. Grace Otto, chaplain. A solo was sung by Mrs. Clarence Wolfersteig, accompanied on the piano by her mother, Mrs. Cowley.

Mrs. Rand read the minutes of the first meeting February 28, 1905.

Entertainment was provided by Fred Van Deusen, magic tricks; Mrs. Wolfersteig, in a song with lyric by Mrs. Cowley dedicated to the Rebekahs; and a reading by Mrs. Morris Cooper, the Anniversary Photograph.

Refreshments were served to the 150 guests present following the meeting.

(Author of Etiquette, Children Are People, etc.)

WHEN ASKED "HOW ARE YOU?"

Today's first letter explains: "A friend and I have argued frequently about the proper response to the greeting, 'Hello, how are you?' This friend simply answers 'hello' in return and ignores the question of 'how are you,?' completely. He says that slight acquaintances do not really care how he is and furthermore it is only a figure of speech and is not meant to be answered. I think it is rude to purposely ignore any question regardless of how trite it is when it is asked with only the friendliest intention, and in my opinion he should answer, 'Fine thank you.' His answer to this is, 'And what if I don't feel 'fine.' Will you please discuss this in your column?"

"Very well, thank you" is in much better taste than "Fine, thank you" and is the polite answer to make no matter how one feels.

Dance Etiquette

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me what is proper in this situation? Let's say a girl I know is dancing and a man I know would like to dance with her but he has never met her. Shall I cut in on the girl and instead of dancing with her for awhile first, introduce my friend to her immediately, and let him ask her to dance? What is the most courteous way to go about this?

Answer: You should dance a few steps toward him, then he interrupts you as he would were he "cutting in" and you then introduce him.

Signing a Guest Book

Dear Mrs. Post: How many times should the same guests be asked to sign the guest book? Just on the first visit, or every time they stay with us?

Answer: This depends upon you. If you want to keep a record of all visits paid you, then guests should sign every time; if you merely want to keep a record of who stayed with you, they should sign only the first time.

Have you given yourself an etiquette test lately? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Her leaflet E-18 includes a list of questions and answers which readers most frequently ask. Reading Problems Shown in Film

At the meeting of the P-TA of School No. 7 a film entitled, Skippy and the 3 R's, prepared by the National Education Association was shown.

Among the important points brought out by the film were that good readers among children are developed by having the child properly adjusted socially to his group; adequate planning upon the part of the teacher; cooperation between the teacher and the parent; and utilization of the child's outside interests to develop enthusiasm about reading and writing.

Mrs. George Dingee, principal of the school, spoke to the assembled parents in a further discussion of teaching procedures. An open discussion followed. Mrs. Herbert Cutler, president, conducted the business meeting Tuesday evening.

Community College Adds Spring Courses In Extension Group

Three more spring courses are being added to the Extension Division offerings at Orange County Community College, according to George B. Erbstein, director of that division. A short review course in economics for professional engineers preparing for the Licensed Engineers Examination will start March 8, and meet for four Tuesday evenings from 7-10 p. m. David Kotler of the Community College faculty will instruct.

Also starting next week will be a six weeks' class in Group Golf Instruction, taught by I. John Krepick, the college golf coach. This group will meet each Wednesday from 8-9:30 p. m. starting March 9. The basic fundamentals of golf, the grip, swing and stance, will be stressed. The class is limited to 12 members.

A course in Home Gardening, coordinated by Harold E. Shively of the college's Agriculture Department, will begin on April 6, and meet for six sessions. A series of guest speakers will give instruction in the care of lawns, landscaping, planting of shrubs, growing of flowers, and control of insects and disease that are common to this area. Greenhouse and hotbed space will be allotted to this course and students will be permitted to start some of their flowers prior to outdoor planting. This course will be held in the greenhouse at the college evenings from 7-10 o'clock.

All three of the above courses are on a non-credit basis, and, like all extension courses at the college, are paid for exclusively by the tuition of the participants. Registrations for the classes may be made through Mr. Erbstein's office at the Community College in Middletown.

Group Hears Billy Graham

A group of 41 children and adults from the West Shokan Baptist Church attended the Billy Graham rally at Madison Square Garden in New York city, Thursday. The Misses Evelyn and Alma Every, assisted by the pastor, the Rev. Walter White, sponsored the trip, along with the church members.

10th Annual Shamrock Bazaar Will Be Held At House by Wiltwyck Chapter, DAR

The Shamrock Bazaar, tenth annual affair sponsored by the Wiltwyck Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will be held Wednesday, March 16, at the Chapter House.

A card party will begin at 1:30 p. m. and at 7:30 p. m. a fashion show, under the direction of Regina, will be held along with the party.

A "real live leprechaun" will give away special gifts to the men in the evening. The decorations will consist of shamrocks, harps and leprechauns.

The chairmen and committees for the various booths are:

Food—Mrs. Edwin T. Strong, chairman; Mrs. G. Herbert De Kay, Mrs. Albert Flanagan, Mrs. John G. Garon.

Leprechaun — Mrs. John M. Schleede, chairman; Mrs. S. James Matthews, Mrs. Walter McClure, Jr., Miss Carolyn D. Newkirk and Mrs. Robert MacKinnon.

Aprons—Mrs. Harry R. Rigby, chairman; Mrs. Hiram Whitney, Mrs. Charles Sweet, and Mrs. Maurice S. Safford.

Baskets — Mrs. Charles A. Beehler of Connelly.

Included for sale will be hand-woven baskets made by Mohawk Indians on the St. Regis Reservation in northern New York state and Canada, as well as Navajo jewelry from Mexico and hand-woven neckties. Other items will include fancy candles, candy, potted plants, utility aprons and cocktail aprons of all sizes.

For reservations for the card parties persons may contact Mrs. Adam H. Porter, Mrs. Walter T. Tremper or Mrs. Charles A. Terwilliger. Players are requested to bring their own cards.

Refreshments will be served to all guests during the afternoon and evening. The committee is headed by Mrs. W. Dale Swartzmiller, chairman; Mrs. Arthur D. Monell, Mrs. Herman Schwenk, Mrs. Charles Terwilliger, Mrs. Hollis M. Burhans, Mrs. Cloyd L. Elias, Mrs. Clyde H. Snell, and Mrs. George Bushnell.

Legion Auxiliary Lists Community Service Projects

A large number of delegates attended the meeting of the Ulster County Committee of American Legion Auxiliary at Port Ewen, Feb. 21.

Mrs. Pearl Smith, chairman, announced the community service work being carried out by the auxiliary programs.

All units are participating in the polio drive for funds. A sum of $200 has been contributed to the Tumor Clinic in this city.

A current project, the birthday fund, will enable veterans at Albany Hospital to have a birthday party once a month complete with birthday cake whose birthday falls within that month.

Mrs. Smith urged all units to have 100 per cent committee participation in the auxiliary programs.

Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the meeting, by the Esopus Post Auxiliary.

MS Patient Hopes Medical Research Will Find Cure

"Hope is the key to Multiple Sclerosis," said Mrs. George Dawkins of 98 Foxhall avenue in a conversation with Robert Stedge, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. "Hope, that someday medical research will find a cure. In our wonderful country such research is dependent on the generosity of the people."

Mrs. Dawkins refers to the donations of persons in combating this dread disease. The Junior Chamber of Commerce, with Wayne Archibald as chairman, is beginning a drive to raise funds for research on this disease. The first public event will be the Curtain at 8:40 Wednesday evening, as a benefit to MS drive.

Mrs. Dawkins is the wife of George Dawkins, owner of a grocery store on Foxhall avenue. The Dawkins started their store in 1931 when the depression was at its worst. Then and until 1947 Mrs. Dawkins worked in the store with her husband waiting on customers. Today she still tries to help doing some clerical work, answering the telephone, as well as helping customers.

"IT WAS in the first part of April 1947 when the first symptoms of MS appeared," says Mrs. Dawkins, "I had a prickling feeling in my hands, an unsteady balance, double vision, and some of the worst headaches. At first the symptoms weren't alarming, and it was supposed that the trouble was nerves and the need of glasses."

"FINALLY one day," she continued, "when the family was visiting the game farm in Catskill and I was trailing a little behind the others we came to a very slight decline, but to me it seemed like a steep mountain slope. I just couldn't go down it and I cried. George came back and helped me and I told him not to let the others know I had been crying. It was then we went to the doctors and they diagnosed the trouble as MS. Even then though they didn't tell me, but after getting worse for about six months they thought it best I should know."

"Since that time every new drug on the market has been tried in the hopes that a cure has been found and that it will bring relief. To the question of who pays for all this the reply was 'we do.' After having had medical insurance for 14 years, the company canceled the policy when the case was diagnosed as MS. Sometimes the medicine would run as much as $17 a day. Mr. Dawkins replied that even though MS is a terrible financial burden on those families who are afflicted the money they give for MS doesn't go to any of the patients but to research.

"This is only right," says Mr. Dawkins, "as research is our only hope for the cure."

THE DAWKINS have three children, Carol, the oldest is a receptionist at the new IBM plant in Kingston; George attends high school here in the city. Karen, the youngest, is taken care of by Mrs. Dawkins parents. Karen attends the George Washington School and has part in the next Coach House production, "The Great Big Doorstep."

Mrs. Dawkins relies heavily on her oldest daughter and her husband for the cooking and housework.

"The neighbors have been simply wonderful," Mrs. Dawkins says, "coming in to converse, combing my hair, bringing in pies and other foods that they know I like."

Mrs. Mildred Buddington then present, claimed they couldn't do enough for a person whose spirit is so wonderful.

"We sometimes come in here with our small problems not realizing perhaps what a big problem really is," Mrs. Buddington said.

Like all MS patients Mrs. Dawkins remarked "you don't appreciate the power you have in just your little finger until something like this happens."

Mrs. Dawkins wanted to express her appreciation to all those who have been so kind, neighbors, the public health nurses and especially the Junior Chamber of Commerce, who are this year conducting for the first time an organized drive to combat MS.

"I certainly hope the public will turn out en mass for the Curtain at 8:40 Wednesday which will benefit the MS fund. Most of us patients will be there if we possibly can and would like to extend our regards personally at that time."

The Alec Guiness movie, the Last Holiday, at the Community Theatre, will help the cause of research and possible cure of multiple sclerosis.

Symphonic Poems Discussion Topic Of Music Group

The symphonic poems, The Fountains of Rome and The Pines of Rome by Ottorino Respighi were the subject of a discussion given by Mrs. William Markle at a meeting of the Music Appreciation Group at the home of Mrs. Ralph Harper on Thursday.

An interest in symphonic music in Italy was revived by Respighi, his harmonies have a serenity which is rare in modern music. In the Fountains of Rome the composer endeavored to give expression to the sentiments and visions suggested to him by four of Rome's fountains. Details of the sculpture of these fountains were described by Mrs. Markle. Recording of The Pines of Rome and The Fountains of Rome were played.

Following the meeting tea was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Richard C. Morse. Mrs. Albert Salzman presided at the teatable.

Mombaccus Shower Held for Mrs. Brooks

Miss Carolyn Freer of Mombaccus was hostess on Friday evening at a Happy Event shower, in the Kerhonkson Federated Church Social Hall, the occasion being in honor of Mrs. Robert Brooks of Pataukunk.

The church hall was attractively decorated in green and yellow, with the center of the design being a Cupid resting in a bassinet, surrounded with gifts for the guest of honor. Following a social hour, buffet refreshments were served.

Guests were the Mmes. Paul Booth, Harrison Brown, Frank Kortright, Robert Kortright, George Green, Richard Baker, Ross Baker, Charles Freer, Carl Squier, Earl Hamilton, Maynard Gockel, Harry Carnright, Robert Coles, Judson Barringer, Arthur Markle, Hiram Brooks, Richard Rose, James Binney, Rachel Shea and Ellen Booth.

STAR LETTER ROUTE: From Andre Kostelanetz, just back from a 30-day trip around the world to record "unusual sounds," comes this fascinating account:

"In Ceylon, I was fortunate enough to be there for the Buddhist Perahera procession, which had not taken place in 12 years. We recorded the sound of some 100,000 people chanting.

"In Singapore, my friend Lin Yu-Tang led me to the waterfront where we recorded the cries of street-vendors, the sounds so typical of Singapore bird and flower shops and even the colorful conversation of some gamblers who were playing a game of mah-jong on the street.

"Bangkok's sounds were completely different. The buzz and drone of the floating markets, the mysterious tones of ancient temple-bells, the peculiar tinkle of small elephant bells, and the atmospheric sound of a ferry-boat ride at night while a Chinese wedding was in progress, and over it all the voice of a Chinese girl shouting the monotonously repeating warning, 'Do not smoke, danger of fire.'

"Sincerely, Andre Kostelanetz."

A girl can't have everything. Even a girl like Claudette Colbert, who, on the surface would seem to have everything plus something.

She has beauty, brains, talent and a happy marriage of 20 years standing. (And that's a long time to be standing). But there's still a small item that Claudette hasn't.

"I wish I could come back to Broadway," she says.

The secret is out. Claudette Colbert yearns for a good, juicy part in a Broadway play. And she can't have one because of that nasty old happy marriage of hers.

Her husband, Dr. Joel Pressman, is a professor of surgery in Los Angeles.

"He can't come East with me," Claudette says. "And I wouldn't want to be here that long without him. So I have to stay in California, too."

Cole Porter's "Silk Stockings" should have a long run. (And THAT should be the most overworked pun of the '55 Broadway season.) But it's true. The show has everything a musical should have — good songs, good comedy, good talent, good-looking girls. None of it is great, all of it is good.

Don Ameche turns out to be a dandy musical comedy hero. He cuts a dashing figure, looks handsome, sings well. And no musical would be complete without a new discovery. This one has a large and loud blonde named Gretchen Wyler, who will be around a long time.

Television Awards Are Made; Gobel Climaxes First Year

Hollywood, March 8 (AP)—Walt Disney and Danny Thomas, clutching two Emmies apiece, today proved that television has three solid networks.

The two ABC stars, along with NBC's George Gobel and Loretta Young, plus Art Carney and Audrey Meadows of the CBS's Jackie Gleason show, dominated last night's seventh annual Emmy awards of the television academy.

The show, sparkling with entertainment, was nationally televised over NBC-TV.

DISNEY, already the possessor of 22 movie Oscars, won an Emmy for the best variety series on TV. And his "Operation Under Sea," an episode in the Disneyland series, was adjudged the best individual program of the year.

Thomas, the star of "Make Room for Daddy," was named the best actor in a regular series. His show was selected the best situation comedy series.

John Daly of ABC won for being the best news reporter and the U. S. Steel hour, also on ABC, was named the best dramatic series.

The six awards out of a possible 21 gave ABC its healthiest showing yet in the awards. NBC and CBS, which heretofore had dominated the annual awards, got seven apiece this time.

THE REMAINING award went to the syndicated series "Stories of the Century," which is not confined to one network. This series won in the best western or adventure series category.

Loretta Young became the first actress in Hollywood history to hold both a movie Oscar and an Emmy. She said the thrill "was equal in both cases." She was named the best actress in a regular series.

George Gobel, in his first year on TV climaxed a meteoric rise by being named television's outstanding new personality.

The diminutive comedian walked on stage and off without a word. His wife explained that he had to leave immediately to play a benefit at a nearby hotel.

TELEVISION, making sure that the emphasis was on entertainment, presented its top personalities as emcees. Steve Allen, Jimmy Durante, George Burns, Thomas, Jack Benny, Ralph Edwards, Dr. Frank Baxter and Dave Garroway piled up laugh after laugh.

Shapely chorus girls from the Moulin Rouge Night Club in Hollywood and two production numbers added show business spice to the program.

The New York winners picked up their Emmies at a gathering held at Nino's LaRue Restaurant.

Beams, Kaplan Selected; Markes Is Coach of Year

Skip Brodhead, KHS luminary; Mickey "The Marvel" Burkoski of Newburgh's unbeaten champions and Mendy Ringel of Monticello head the 1955 All-DUSO team by unanimous choice of the DUSO Writer's Association.

The remainder of the dream team includes Harold Kaplan of Newburgh, an 8 to 3 choice of the scribes and Dick Beams of Port Jervis, who edged out Monty Stickles of Poughkeepsie for the first team berth by 6-5.

Burkoski, the only four-year varsity basketball performer in Newburgh Free Academy's history, was named player of the year.

BOB MARKES, coach of Middletown High School, which is pitted in the state intersectionals tonight at Troy, was voted coach of the year.

Prizes will be awarded to the All-DUSO players at a testimonial dinner in the Hotel Newburgh March 16. Nat Holman, CCNY coach and all-time basketball great, will speak. Coach Markes also will be honored for his coach of the year selection.

This year's dream team, comprised 100 per cent of seniors, is star-studded with brilliant shooters and rebounders. The club possesses two outstanding floor men in Kaplan and Beams and superlative shooters in Ringel, Brodhead and Burkoski.

In sparking Newburgh Free Academy to the DUSO championship this year, as well as a fine 18-game unbeaten record, Burkoski was rightfully chosen as the player of the year with a terrific four-year record at NFA behind him.

BURKOWSKI surpassed all records at the school except Dick Tyler's one-game total of 54. During his four-year career at NFA, Burkoski played on three DUSO championship teams. What "The Marvel" lacks in defensive strength, he makes up with his high-flying court finesse. The great NFA center scored more than 40 points three times this year.

The 1955 dream team this year features two other outstanding ball players at the forward positions.

Skip Brodhead, KHS favorite, regarded by DUSO League experts as the best all-round player in the conference, was a unanimous choice for one of the forward positions.

Rated with such postwar KHS stalwarts as Big Ed Weaver, Ronnie Scheffel and Leroy Hooker, Brodhead makes his second straight appearance on an All-DUSO team.

BRODHEAD LED this year's Kingston scorers with a total of 348 points in 18 games for an average of 19.6. Brodhead canned 378 points during the 1953-54 campaign.

MENDY RINGEL, who flanks Brodhead at the forward position, has been the greatest scorer in Monticello history.

One of the big reasons for the Monties' second place finish this year, Ringel has had a phenomenal 90 per cent scoring average through his career at Monticello High.

HAROLD KAPLAN, at one of the guard positions on the dream squad, is regarded by George Masterson, his NFA mentor, as the best playmaker Newburgh has ever had. The set shot specialist has been an important factor in Newburgh's unbeaten record this year.

The vote for the final guard position between Dick Beams of Port Jervis and Monty Stickles of Poughkeepsie reflected their true worth to their respective teams.

The PJ ace is regarded as one of the top floor men and a real addition to any team.

STICKLES, WHO was placed at the center position on the All-DUSO second team, may set a new scoring record for Poughkeepsie before the current campaign is completed.

The second team comprises Ronnie Trachtenburgh of Monticello and Steve Tomkin of Middletown at forwards, Stickles, center; Bob Maines of Kingston and Charlie Johnson, Poughkeepsie, guards.

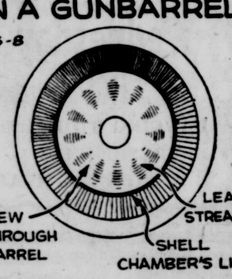
REMOVE LEADING IN A GUNBARREL



AFTER CLEANING A SHOTGUN BARREL, AND LEAD STREAKS FROM THE SHOT PELLETS REMAIN IN THE BORE, BRUSH IT THOROUGHLY FROM END-TO-END WITH A BRASS BRUSH. IF THAT DOESN'T DO THE WORK, TRY THIS:

GET SOME BLUE OINTMENT IN A DRUG STORE. SWAB IT FREELY IN THE BARREL AND LET IT STAND FOR SEVERAL HOURS. MERCURY IN THE OINTMENT, COMBINES WITH LEAD SO IT CAN THEN BE BRUSHED OUT. IF BADLY "LEADED," REPEAT TREATMENT.

COACH OF YEAR—Robert J. Markes of Middletown, chosen DUSO League basketball coach of the year, saw his team pile up seven victories in a row, the longest string during his time at MHS, where he has been boss of the cage teams and social studies instructor for seven years. This year's league record is 10-5, not including the March 5 game with Fallsburg.

Markes' best previous season was 1952-53, when Middletown finished fifth in the DUSO loop with a 10-8 record, and won two of three games in the State Intersectionals. In 1953-54, Middletown tied for sixth place with a 5-11 record. The four top men on the team graduated that June.

Markes is a native of Amsterdam, N. Y. He graduated from grade and high school there, then attended Union College, Schenectady, and New York University.

Sectionals Open

NFA, Albany Here Tonight

Two great schoolboy powerhouses, Newburgh Free Academy and Albany High School, open the New York state intersectionals tonight at 8 o'clock at the Kate Walton Field House.

A preliminary is scheduled for 6:30 beween "Butch" Whalen's Juniors and Mike Perry's Sophomores.

Newburgh, unbeaten champions of the DUSO League with a record of 18-0, including non-conference games, rates a slight edge.

THE NFA QUINTET, sparked by the terrific Mickey "The Marvel" Burkoski, has been the scourge of DUSO League teams this year as the record will verify.

Newburgh wound up its regulation season with a 112 to 64 romp over Fallsburgh, establishing a new all-time DUSO team scoring mark.

Counting last year's victory in the state intersectional consolation tournament, Newburgh has actually won 19 in a row.

Possessing a standout ball club, including Burkoski, today named the player of the year by DUSO writers and Harold Kaplan, a smooth ball handler, Newburgh has the potential to go all the way in this year's state competition.

ALBANY HIGH, boasting a 14-3 record, assured itself of the right to meet Newburgh tonight, by defeating Mont Pleasant last Friday.

The Capital City quintet picked up steam in the latter stages of the season and is ready for tonight's big clash.

While Newburgh and Albany battle here tonight, Middletown High will play Nott Terrace at Troy.

Probable lineups for tonight's game:

Newburgh		Albany
H. Kaplan	F	B. DiNova
J. Cantenaro	F	J. Ninas
M. Burkoski	C	J. Anderson
J. Schoenberger	G	G. Holt
D. Clark	G	J. Smith

Ray Pays $3,500 But Loses Rights In Massachusetts

Boston, March 8 (AP)—Boxer Sugar Ray Robinson has drawn what amounts to a lifetime ban in Massachuetts for his last-minute pullout from last Saturday night's scheduled bout with Georgie Small of Brooklyn.

But the dapper ex-middleweight and welterweight king will be free to fight elsewhere because—after Robinson agreed to pay the $3,500 losses suffered by promoter Sam Silverman—the Massachuetts Boxing Commission did not press for a general ban by the National Boxing Assn.

Robinson withdrew shortly before the bout, complaining he had a sore throat and virus symptoms which he said made him too weak to appear.

Dr. Edwin Hommel of the boxing commission said after an examination that Robinson showed "no evidence of sickness or injury which would warrant a postponement."

Robinson is slated to fight Johnny Lombardo in Cincinnati March 15 and Ted Olla in Milwaukee the following week.

Cosenza, Ritter Win Medals for Section 9 Event

Dick Cosenza and Ray Ritter of Kingston High School's newly-formed wrestling team, won silver medals in a Section 9 tournament Saturday at Suffern.

Cosenza lost in the finals of the heavyweight class to Brown of Nyack when he was pinned. The Nyack grappler has won eight straight matches.

Ritter, who pinned Levalle of Suffern in 42 seconds of the first period, later was pinned by Bevier in 1:42 of the second round. Bevier has been undefeated in three years.

In the 130-pound class, Frank Pace of Kingston won by default over Ferrsin of Congers, 1:30 of second period. Pace was eliminated in the semi-finals by Star of Haverstraw who pinned the former in 1:20 of the second period.

OTHER RESULTS:

Bob Craig (K), pinned by Adduce of Suffern.

Bob Koury (K), pinned by Pierce of Congers, 1:45, first period, 136-pound class.

Bob Campbell (K), pinned by Keve of Nyack, 1:52 of second period.

Joe Fitzgerald (K), was pinned by Bibbins of Nyack, 52 seconds of second round.

Marvin Shaub (K) lost decision on points, 5-4, to Tebbals of Suffern in 178-pound class.

Neil Keyser (K) lost 5-4 decision to Oliver of Nyack, also in the 178-pound class. The decision was protested.

Coach Bill Hurley of Kingston, who is working with the grapplers, expressed complete satisfaction after the tournament.

"We're entirely new at this game," Bill said, "and we were up against veterans of the sport in Suffern. Actually the boys only practiced for two weeks prior to the tournament.

Martin Ruby, new Tulsa University line coach, played in the Cotton Bowl Game twice—each with a different team. In 1942 he played for Texas A & M. In 1944 he was on the Randolph Field team.

Saugerties Will Play Otisville

Saugerties High School, 1954-55 champions of the UCAL Basketball League, plays Otisville tonight in the Section 9 basketball tournament.

Saugerties copped the UCAL bunting with an 11-1 record and won 16 out of 18 for its over-all mark on the year.

Also playing at Middletown will be Monroe-Woodbury and Chester.

Games scheduled for Washingtonville bring together Roscoe and Monticello High and Livingston Manor and Haverstraw.

TWO AREA clubs were knocked off in Friday's opening round.

Highland High dropped a 59-57 squeaker to Livingston Manor and Ellenville was upended by Monroe-Woodbury, 57-48.

Wininger Brings Home $2,200 In First Title in PGA Play

Baton Rouge, La., March 8 (AP)—Chunky Bo Wininger today headed for a week's rest at his Oklahoma City home with his first PGA tournament victory and the $2,200 first prize in the $12,500 Baton Rouge open golf tourney.

After a week's layoff the touring professionals play next at St. Petersburg, Fla.

The 5-7, 37-year-old Oklahoman, displaying accurate iron shots and deadly putting, easily trounced Jimmy Clark of Laguna Beach, Calif., and Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., yesterday in an 18-hole playoff for first money.

Wininger stroked a six-under-par 66, four strokes better than Clark, who won the $1,500 second money. Maxwell, who had putter trouble, shot a one-under-par 71 to take home $1,170 third place money.

The three deadlocked for first Sunday with 72-hole totals of 278.

Beams, Kaplan Selected; Markes Is Coach of Year

Skip Brodhead, KHS luminary; Mickey "The Marvel" Burkoski of Newburgh's unbeaten champions and Mendy Ringel of Monticello head the 1955 All-DUSO team by unanimous choice of the DUSO Writer's Association.

The remainder of the dream team includes Harold Kaplan of Newburgh, an 8 to 3 choice of the scribes and Dick Beams of Port Jervis, who edged out Monty Stickles of Poughkeepsie for the first team berth by 6-5.

Burkoski, the only four-year varsity basketball performer in Newburgh Free Academy's history, was named player of the year.

BOB MARKES, coach of Middletown High School, which is pitted in the state intersectionals tonight at Troy, was voted coach of the year.

Prizes will be awarded to the All-DUSO players at a testimonial dinner in the Hotel Newburgh March 16. Nat Holman, CCNY coach and all-time basketball great, will speak. Coach Markes also will be honored for his coach of the year selection.

This year's dream team, comprised 100 per cent of seniors, is star-studded with brilliant shooters and rebounders. The club possesses two outstanding floor men in Kaplan and Beams and superlative shooters in Ringel, Brodhead and Burkoski.

In sparking Newburgh Free Academy to the DUSO championship this year, as well as a fine 18-game unbeaten record, Burkoski was rightfully chosen as the player of the year with a terrific four-year record at NFA behind him.

BURKOWSKI surpassed all records at the school except Dick Tyler's one-game total of 54. During his four-year career at NFA, Burkoski played on three DUSO championship teams. What "The Marvel" lacks in defensive strength, he makes up with his high-flying court finesse. The great NFA center scored more than 40 points three times this year.

The 1955 dream team this year features two other outstanding ball players at the forward positions.

Skip Brodhead, KHS favorite, regarded by DUSO League experts as the best all-round player in the conference, was a unanimous choice for one of the forward positions.

Rated with such postwar KHS stalwarts as Big Ed Weaver, Ronnie Scheffel and Leroy Hooker, Brodhead makes his second straight appearance on an All-DUSO team.

BRODHEAD LED this year's Kingston scorers with a total of 348 points in 18 games for an average of 19.6. Brodhead canned 378 points during the 1953-54 campaign.

MENDY RINGEL, who flanks Brodhead at the forward position, has been the greatest scorer in Monticello history.

One of the big reasons for the Monties' second place finish this year, Ringel has had a phenomenal 90 per cent scoring average through his career at Monticello High.

HAROLD KAPLAN, at one of the guard positions on the dream squad, is regarded by George Masterson, his NFA mentor, as the best playmaker Newburgh has ever had. The set shot specialist has been an important factor in Newburgh's unbeaten record this year.

The vote for the final guard position between Dick Beams of Port Jervis and Monty Stickles of Poughkeepsie reflected their true worth to their respective teams.

The PJ ace is regarded as one of the top floor men and a real addition to any team.

STICKLES, WHO was placed at the center position on the All-DUSO second team, may set a new scoring record for Poughkeepsie before the current campaign is completed.

The second team comprises Ronnie Trachtenburgh of Monticello and Steve Tomkin of Middletown at forwards, Stickles, center; Bob Maines of Kingston and Charlie Johnson, Poughkeepsie, guards.

REMOVE LEADING IN A GUNBARREL

AFTER CLEANING A SHOTGUN BARREL, AND LEAD STREAKS FROM THE SHOT PELLETS REMAIN IN THE BORE, BRUSH IT THOROUGHLY FROM END-TO-END WITH A BRASS BRUSH. IF THAT DOESN'T DO THE WORK, TRY THIS:

GET SOME BLUE OINTMENT IN A DRUG STORE. SWAB IT FREELY IN THE BARREL AND LET IT STAND FOR SEVERAL HOURS. MERCURY IN THE OINTMENT, COMBINES WITH LEAD SO IT CAN THEN BE BRUSHED OUT. IF BADLY "LEADED," REPEAT TREATMENT.

COACH OF YEAR—Robert J. Markes of Middletown, chosen DUSO League basketball coach of the year, saw his team pile up seven victories in a row, the longest string during his time at MHS, where he has been boss of the cage teams and social studies instructor for seven years. This year's league record is 10-5, not including the March 5 game with Fallsburg.

Markes' best previous season was 1952-53, when Middletown finished fifth in the DUSO loop with a 10-8 record, and won two of three games in the State Intersectionals. In 1953-54, Middletown tied for sixth place with a 5-11 record. The four top men on the team graduated that June.

Markes is a native of Amsterdam, N. Y. He graduated from grade and high school there, then attended Union College, Schenectady, and New York University.

Sectionals Open

NFA, Albany Here Tonight

Two great schoolboy powerhouses, Newburgh Free Academy and Albany High School, open the New York state intersectionals tonight at 8 o'clock at the Kate Walton Field House.

A preliminary is scheduled for 6:30 beween "Butch" Whalen's Juniors and Mike Perry's Sophomores.

Newburgh, unbeaten champions of the DUSO League with a record of 18-0, including non-conference games, rates a slight edge.

THE NFA QUINTET, sparked by the terrific Mickey "The Marvel" Burkoski, has been the scourge of DUSO League teams this year as the record will verify.

Newburgh wound up its regulation season with a 112 to 64 romp over Fallsburgh, establishing a new all-time DUSO team scoring mark.

Counting last year's victory in the state intersectional consolation tournament, Newburgh has actually won 19 in a row.

Possessing a standout ball club, including Burkoski, today named the player of the year by DUSO writers and Harold Kaplan, a smooth ball handler, Newburgh has the potential to go all the way in this year's state competition.

ALBANY HIGH, boasting a 14-3 record, assured itself of the right to meet Newburgh tonight, by defeating Mont Pleasant last Friday.

The Capital City quintet picked up steam in the latter stages of the season and is ready for tonight's big clash.

While Newburgh and Albany battle here tonight, Middletown High will play Nott Terrace at Troy.

Probable lineups for tonight's game:

Newburgh		Albany
H. Kaplan	F	B. DiNova
J. Cantenaro	F	J. Ninas
M. Burkoski	C	J. Anderson
J. Schoenberger	G	G. Holt
D. Clark	G	J. Smith

Ray Pays $3,500 But Loses Rights In Massachusetts

Boston, March 8 (AP)—Boxer Sugar Ray Robinson has drawn what amounts to a lifetime ban in Massachuetts for his last-minute pullout from last Saturday night's scheduled bout with Georgie Small of Brooklyn.

But the dapper ex-middleweight and welterweight king will be free to fight elsewhere because—after Robinson agreed to pay the $3,500 losses suffered by promoter Sam Silverman—the Massachuetts Boxing Commission did not press for a general ban by the National Boxing Assn.

Robinson withdrew shortly before the bout, complaining he had a sore throat and virus symptoms which he said made him too weak to appear.

Dr. Edwin Hommel of the boxing commission said after an examination that Robinson showed "no evidence of sickness or injury which would warrant a postponement."

Robinson is slated to fight Johnny Lombardo in Cincinnati March 15 and Ted Olla in Milwaukee the following week.

Cosenza, Ritter Win Medals for Section 9 Event

Dick Cosenza and Ray Ritter of Kingston High School's newly-formed wrestling team, won silver medals in a Section 9 tournament Saturday at Suffern.

Cosenza lost in the finals of the heavyweight class to Brown of Nyack when he was pinned. The Nyack grappler has won eight straight matches.

Ritter, who pinned Levalle of Suffern in 42 seconds of the first period, later was pinned by Bevier in 1:42 of the second round. Bevier has been undefeated in three years.

In the 130-pound class, Frank Pace of Kingston won by default over Ferrsin of Congers, 1:30 of second period. Pace was eliminated in the semi-finals by Star of Haverstraw who pinned the former in 1:20 of the second period.

OTHER RESULTS:

Bob Craig (K), pinned by Adduce of Suffern.

Bob Koury (K), pinned by Pierce of Congers, 1:45, first period, 136-pound class.

Bob Campbell (K), pinned by Keve of Nyack, 1:52 of second period.

Joe Fitzgerald (K), was pinned by Bibbins of Nyack, 52 seconds of second round.

Marvin Shaub (K) lost decision on points, 5-4, to Tebbals of Suffern in 178-pound class.

Neil Keyser (K) lost 5-4 decision to Oliver of Nyack, also in the 178-pound class. The decision was protested.

Coach Bill Hurley of Kingston, who is working with the grapplers, expressed complete satisfaction after the tournament.

"We're entirely new at this game," Bill said, "and we were up against veterans of the sport in Suffern. Actually the boys only practiced for two weeks prior to the tournament.

Martin Ruby, new Tulsa University line coach, played in the Cotton Bowl Game twice—each with a different team. In 1942 he played for Texas A & M. In 1944 he was on the Randolph Field team.

Saugerties Will Play Otisville

Saugerties High School, 1954-55 champions of the UCAL Basketball League, plays Otisville tonight in the Section 9 basketball tournament.

Saugerties copped the UCAL bunting with an 11-1 record and won 16 out of 18 for its over-all mark on the year.

Also playing at Middletown will be Monroe-Woodbury and Chester.

Games scheduled for Washingtonville bring together Roscoe and Monticello High and Livingston Manor and Haverstraw.

TWO AREA clubs were knocked off in Friday's opening round.

Highland High dropped a 59-57 squeaker to Livingston Manor and Ellenville was upended by Monroe-Woodbury, 57-48.

Wininger Brings Home $2,200 In First Title in PGA Play

Baton Rouge, La., March 8 (AP)—Chunky Bo Wininger today headed for a week's rest at his Oklahoma City home with his first PGA tournament victory and the $2,200 first prize in the $12,500 Baton Rouge open golf tourney.

After a week's layoff the touring professionals play next at St. Petersburg, Fla.

The 5-7, 37-year-old Oklahoman, displaying accurate iron shots and deadly putting, easily trounced Jimmy Clark of Laguna Beach, Calif., and Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., yesterday in an 18-hole playoff for first money.

Wininger stroked a six-under-par 66, four strokes better than Clark, who won the $1,500 second money. Maxwell, who had putter trouble, shot a one-under-par 71 to take home $1,170 third place money.

The three deadlocked for first Sunday with 72-hole totals of 278.

Palsy, Heart Benefit Cage Doubleheader Scheduled Tonight

'JUST WATCH ME'—Charles J. Buckley, 8, has the right form, but he's still on the wrong side of the fence at Yankees' St. Petersburg, Fla., training camp. But the youngster hopes Johnny Neuen, New York coach, sees enough promise in him to wait a couple of years—and get up a bonus. (NEA).

Cops to Play Firemen; Kiwanis, Lions Battle

If the price of liniment doesn't go sky high Wednesday morning, it won't be for the lack of aches and pains of about 50 assorted ball players scheduled for action tonight at municipal auditorium in an extravaganza to benefit the Cerebral Palsy and Heart Fund drives.

Tonight's the time for the big return battle of the Police and Firemen quintets and another "spectacular" featinging the Kiwanis and Lions Clubs.

Game time is scheduled for 7:45 p. m. when the two service clubs will go at it. The Cops and Firemen will follow.

ALL FOUR MANAGERS have predicted victory tonight and with only four teams scheduled to show up at the auditorium that's going to be a difficult job.

Charlie Fabiano will make the important decisions in managing the Kiwanis Club and undoubtedly will use his complete squad, as long as they last, anyway.

Dr. Saul Goldfarb will handle the reigns for the Lions sharpies.

Perhaps it is ironic but the two team rosters comprise three doctors (one is a dentist) and one funeral home manager.

But be that as it may, if tonight's titular clash is anything like last year's event at the Kate Walton Field House, the fans will get more than their money's worth.

REMEMBERING ONLY too well last year's 52 to 49 defeat at the hands of the Firemen, Manager Bill Hanley has drilled his charges day in and day out with hopes of revenge.

"My boys look ready," Hanley predicted this morning and it looks as though we'll even the series at one game each."

Meanwhile, Clayton Stalter, who will do the master minding for the Firemen, refused to go along with Hanley's optimistic report.

Following are the reported rosters for the battle royal:

Kiwanis	Lions
George Rifenbary	Saul Goldfarb
Gus Brinnier	George Heddy
Lou Schafer	Hubert Richter
Jim Gilpatric	Andy Murphy, 3
Howard St. John	Jack Giligan
Dick Riseley	Harry Kapreliar
Chet Baltz	Dr. M. Fletcher
Gene Jordan	Joe Merola
Charlie Fabiano	Ed Maurer
	George Svirsky
	Bud Potter

Police	Firemen
Len Ellsworth	Don Williams
Joe Kivlan	Jack Haber
Mike Levy	Form Coughlin
Bernie Fowler	F. Argulewicz

Durocher Sees Monte Irvin in HelpfulComeback

Phoenix, Ariz., March 8 (AP)—He looks "just great" says Manager Leo Durocher of the fellow he earlier tabbed the key to the puzzle of 1955 for the world champion New York Giants.

Perhaps Leo was being hopefully optimistic as he referred to Monte Irvin but most observers agreed the Giant left fielder was hitting the ball with more authority, than at this same time last year.

"I DID ABOUT everything wrong", said Monte of 1954. "I couldn't do anything right. The team won the championship without me."

But he added after yesterdays workout, "I'm hoping for a comeback. And I think I can do it."

Irvin, who in four previous seasons was .300 or above for the New Yorkers, says he's holding the bat higher and not striding so far this spring as he ties to regain the .300 swing. He hit only .264 last year.

Durocher says he's just returning to form:

"NOW HE'S hitting the way he used to," says Leo. "Last season he got to dropping the bat just before his swing. And his spirit is better, his attitude is better and there isn't the worry about the ankle."

Irvin slammed out a triple in the latest intra-squad game which impressed the local fans although Monte admits it's a little too early to tell much.

Canadian Champ Retains Title as Decision Changes

Toronto, March 8 (AP)—For a few uproarious minutes last night, James J. Parker thought he had won the Canadian heavyweight boxing championship. So did 6,500 fans.

Streaked with the blood of his opponent, Champion Earl Walls of Toronto, the towering 25-year-old challenger was announced as the new heavyweight king after a gory 12-round battle.

Moments later, the split decision was declared a draw with Walls retaining his crown in one of the greatest rhubarbs in Canadian boxing history.

RING ANNOUNCER Tommy McClure, after receiving the slips of the two judges and referee Billy Burke, announced it a split decision in favor of Parker, who now fights out of Paterson, N. J.

Soon afterwards Ontario Boxing Commissioner Merv MacKenzie dumbfounded Parker, his handlers and fans by pointing out an error in the interpretation of the judging and ordered the fight declared a draw, with Walls still the champion.

AS THE CROWD milled the ring and on the edge of the canvas, McClure grabbed the microphone and announced that the bout was a draw since one judge had called Walls the winner, the other had named Parker and the referee voted for a draw.

Judge Rony Canzano scored it in favor of Walls 57 points to 56. Dr. Les Black, the other judge, gave it to Parker 57½ to 56. Burke called it even, giving 50 points to each fighter.

McClure, a ring announcer in many fights, thought the fighter who got the most points was the winner, which in this case was Parker with 163½ against 163 for the 26-year-old champion.

Honolulu Woman Wins Jacksonville $5,000 Open Play

Jacksonville, Fla., March 8 (AP)—Jackie Pung, the Honolulu housewife, fired a par 72 yesterday to break a four-way tie and capture the $5,000 Jacksonville women's open golf tournament with a 72-hole total of 297.

Mary Lena Faulk, Patty Berg and Fay Crocker who had been deadlocked with Mrs. Pung at the start of the final round finished one stroke back.

Mrs. Pung's victory was worth $1,000.

Developing New Pitch

Tucson, Ariz., March 8 (AP)—Bob Feller is working on a new pitch and hopes to get into more than just a few games this year for the Cleveland Indians. "If I'm not quite as fast as I was," in 1936, he said yesterday, "I've made up for it by developing a sinker. I've learned to make 'em hit the ball on the ground and depend on the infield behind me. And I'm still working on a knuckler. Up to now I've used it mainly as a change-of-pace, but one of these days I'll get guys out with it. You wait and see."

Stengel Not Worried About Sain's Absence

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 8 (AP) — Veteran pitcher Johnny Sain still has not reported to the New York Yankees' camp, but Manager Casey Stengel is unconcerned about his absence.

"He trains himself and will be in good shape," Stengel says. The Yankees' front office knows the tobacco-chewing righthander is training in Arkansas when not selling cars.

Umphlett Tabbed As Leadoff Man

Orlando, Fla., March 8 (AP)—Manager Chuck Dressen has tabbed outfielder Tom Umphlett to replace Eddie Yost as leadoff man for Thursday's exhibition opener with the Boston Red Sox.

Dressen hopes a spot deeper in the batting order will lead to heavy payoff hitting by third baseman Yost.

Durocher Praises Williams' Playing

Phoenix, Ariz., March 8 (AP)—Davey Williams' sprightly play at second base for the New York Giants continues to draw words of praise from Manager Leo Durocher.

"He's got quick hands. Real quick. He works better with Alvin Dark now than Eddie Stanky did because Williams is quicker. I rate Dark and Williams with any double play combination in our league."

Williams participated in 112 double plays last season and his fielding was one of the vital factors in the Giants' pennant and World Series success.

Frick Would Legalize Spitter to Aid Pitchers

Clearwater, Fla., March 8 (AP)—Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick says something should be done to help pitchers and if he had his way "I'd legalize the old 'spitter'".

The commissioner dropped in on the Philadelphia Phillies' training camp yesterday "to line up six tickets" for an exhibition game Thursday.

HE TOOK the occasion to exchange views on the new "stopwatch" rule requiring pitchers to deliver the ball within 20 seconds after they step on the rubber (he thinks it will only put further restrictions on the pitchers) and financial prospects for the major leagues this season (he forecast a prosperous year).

The so-called "stop-watch" rule is designed to speed up the action and shorten the playing time, a matter of considerable discussion in recent years with ball games invariably dragging out past the two-hour mark.

"If the boys want to circumvent any rule, they can find ways and means of doing so," Frick said.

"BUT I DO think something positive should be done to help the pitchers. Why with this lively ball and everybody swinging, it's gotten so a pitcher's afraid to lay the ball in there.

"If I had my way, I'd legalize the old 'spitter.' It was a great pitch and one of the easiest to throw • • • there was nothing dangerous about it. Mostly, the ball dipped and did tricks—from a natural delivery. It was nothing like this screwball they have to throw today, with a twisted elbow and a tricky snapping of the wrists. No wonder today's pitchers can't go on as long."

Frick said he expected attendance to reach between seven and eight million in each of the major leagues this year. He also predicted close races, "especially in the National League."

Kellogg Receives Gift in Visit To Globetrotters

Little Rock, Ark., March 8 (AP)—Junius Kellogg, the former Harlem Globetrotter who was injured critically in an Arkansas automobile collision nearly a year ago, last night made his first public appearance since the accident.

Kellogg blew the whistle on the basketball gambling scandal in 1950 while playing for Manhattan.

LaSalle Opens Defense Of Title Against W. Va.

(By The Associated Press)

LaSalle's Explorers, led by three-time All-America Tom Gola, open defense of their national intercollegiate basketball title tonight, meeting West Virginia's Southern Conference champions in one of eight preliminary games scheduled for four cities.

ACTUALLY, the NCAA tournament gets underway before the field of 24 is completed. The Ivy League, which ended in a three-way tie as Princeton defeated Brown 58-39 last night, will decide its representative at Rutgers Wednesday night when Columbia meets Princeton. Columbia eliminated Pennsylvania 73-71 in a game played after the Princeton-Brown contest.

LaSalle (22-4) and West Virginia (19-10) featuring colorful "Hot Rod" Hundley, wind up a triple header at New York's Madison Square Garden. Williams (17-1) New England representative, takes on Canisius (16-6) in the first game and Duke (20-7), runner-up to ineligible North Carolina State in the Atlantic Coast Conference, meets Villanova (16-9).

THE OTHER preliminary round games will be played at Lexington, Ky., El Reno, Okla., and San Francisco.

Marquette, which had the unique regular season record of losing its first and last games but winning 22 in between, takes on Miami of Ohio, (24-8) the mid-American champion at Lexington. The other game matches Penn State (17-8), third in last year's championship, and Memphis State (17-4).

San Francisco's Dons, the nation's No. 1 team with a 23-1 record and featuring all-American Bill Russell, swing into action against West Texas (15-7), Border Conference representative, at San Francisco. On the same card Idaho State (18-7), Rocky Mountain Conference titleholder, tackles Seattle (19-5).

THE LAST two at-large teams to be selected for the championship, Bradley (7-19) and Oklahoma City (9-17), battle it out at El Reno. Bradley was runner-up at LaSalle in the 1954 tournament.

This is how the winners will lineup for Friday's regional tournaments, with the winners to meet Saturday for the right to make the trip to Kansas City for the final rounds on March 18-19:

At Philadelphia—Ivy League champion Princeton (12-19) or Columbia (17-7) vs. LaSalle-West Virginia winner and Williams-Canisius winner vs. Duke-Villanova winner.

At Evanston—Kentucky ((22-2), Southeastern Conference champion, vs. Miami-Marquette winner and Iowa (17-5), Big Ten Titlist, vs. Penn State-Memphis State winner. Iowa wound up its season last night with a defeat, falling before Michigan 74-58.

At Manhattan—Southern Methodist (16-7), Southwest Conference champion, vs. Bradley-Oklahoma City winner and Colorado (16-9) Big Seven King, vs. Tulsa (20-6) selected to represent the Missouri Valley after tying St. Louis.

At Corvallis—Oregon State (21-7), Pacific Coast Conference champion, vs. Idaho State Seattle winner and Utah (23-3), best in the Skyline Conference, takes on the West Texas-San Francisco winner.

San Francisco — Dave Whitlock, 179½, San Francisco, drew with Howard King, 186½, Reno, Nev., 10.

Dons Keep Top Spot InCollegeCageVoting

(By The Associated Press)

The San Francisco Dons, leader in the Associated Press poll of college basketball powers for the last four weeks, remained in the No. 1 spot today after a close ballot duel with Kentucky.

With San Francisco, Kentucky and other teams headed into tournament play, the final regular season poll of the nation's sports writers and sportscasters brought out a heavy vote with the Dons and Wildcats winning a big majority of the support.

A total of 171 votes were cast, San Francisco receiving 67 for first place and Kentucky—which finished the 1954 season as No. 1—collecting 58.

THE LEADING ten teams with first place votes and won-lost records through Saturday in parentheses (points on 10, 9, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2, 1 basis):

1.	San Francisco (67) (23-1)	1424
2.	Kentucky (58) (22-2)	1358
3.	La Salle (5) (22-4)	1043

Waltman Shoots 563 for Mixer

Dick Waltman topped the pinfall in Sunday's Ferraro Mixer with a 563 clip on sticks of 142-219-202.

Waltman's 219 was equalled by Tony Sinagra who had 219-481.

Jake Smith shot 508; Stan Rogers 515 and Ed Auclair 512 to complete the 500 group.

Other top efforts included Barney Rosinski with 471; Bud Parslow 445; Bob Houghtaling 445; Ann Maccaline 465; Bill Stenson 473; Ellie Howland 442; Fred Zimmerman 456; Harold Smith 477; Joe Badalamenti 475; Herb Dickerson 446; Jim De Cicco 486; Louis Petramale 494; Tom Graham 491; Chet Diffley 461; Ed Tuey 440; Frank Passer 491; Mabel Chapman 455; Frank Cirone 466; Marcia Clark 448; Phil Sinagra 446; Tony Sinagra 219-481; Don Wolff 465; E. Van Keuren 452; Joe Dalleo 449 and Howie Brooks 461.

Team results:

Smith-Parish (2), Old Crows (1); Nadler Motors (3), Singers (0); Ulster Engineering (2), Alpine (1); Styles Express (2), Charles Service Station (1); DeCicco's Iron Works (2), Lou's Cleaners (1); Rainbow Inn (2), Cedar Rest (1); Central Lunch (2), Sue's Beauty Shop (1).

Trappers Must Quit

Albany, March 8 (AP)—Muskrat trappers must quit by Saturday in the lower Hudson, east central and Catskill districts of the southern trapping zone. The season will continue in the central and western districts. Conservation Commissioner Louis A. Wehle ordered the season closing yesterday. He said a second order would be issued later to end trapping in the central and western sectors. He said there had been a "satisfactory harvest" for trappers in the area to be closed. He added that cold weather had hampered trappers in other sections.

Furillo Will Get Action in Exhibitions

Vero Beach, Fla., March 8 (AP)—Outfielder Carl Furillo, who blames his slow start last season on the lack of spring training competition, is going to see plenty of action in the Brooklyn Dodgers' exhibition games.

Manager Walt Alston was asked yesterday how long the starters would play in Thursday night's opener with the Braves. "About half the game," he answered. Then he added significantly: "Except Furillo. He may play a little longer."

St. Francis Quintet Out After Title in Basketball for East

Kansas City, March 8 (AP) — The east, which has failed to come up with a champion in the past 16 national intercollegiate (NAIA) basketball tournaments sends highly regarded St. Francis of Brooklyn in quest of its first title today.

The St. Francis Terriers, who have knocked off such teams as City College of New York, Seton Hall and Siena in regular season play, meet Quincy, Ill., College in their first round start (12:30 p. m. CST).

St. Francis has a 16-8 record. Quincy has won 16 and lost 8.

Play followed script in the opening set of eight games yesterday except for one case where Southwestern of Winfield, Kas., upset Loyola of Los Angeles, 83-79.

In regular season play Loyola, a seeded team, beat such schools as Santa Clara and Southern California. Southwestern, with an enrollment of about 400, is one of the smallest colleges entered in the six-day tournament.

Today's schedule:

Louisiana Tech vs. Coe (Iowa), St. Francis vs. Quincy, Geneva (Pa.) vs. Nebraska Wesleyan, Atlantic Christian vs. Evansville (Ind.), Middle Tennessee vs. Southeastern Oklahoma, Western Illinois vs. Regis, Kirksville (Mo.) vs. Georgetown (Ky.), New Haven (Conn.) vs. Arkansas Tech.

Delaney Out After Big Money, He Says After Beating Wilson

New York, March 8 (AP)—Ronnie Delaney, a lefthanded middleweight, is a sensible young man. At 25 years of age, he has acquired a wife and five children. He even likes fighting.

But he likes money better.

"I'm after some real money in this game now," Delaney said today. "I've been fighting for small purses long enough."

If he can find some opponents, Delaney might get that pot of gold. Right now, he spends most of his time earning a living as a laborer in the county engineer's office in Akron, O.

HE PUNCHED out a unanimous 10-round decision over Sugar Al Wilson last night in St. Nicholas Arena. On the heels of his non-title decision over champion Johnny Saxton, he now has the credentials to hold out for a big bundle of cash.

"That Wilson is a rough customer," said Delaney, who has lost only one fight as a professional while piling up 49 victories.

Delaney was a 3-1 favorite, mostly on the basis of his being a southpaw. They are hard to fight, but you wouldn't think so to watch Wilson. He just kept boring in and it was his misfortune that he didnt get in the solid blows.

THE DECISION was unanimous, although the officials saw it in varying degrees. Referee Teddy Martin had it 8-2, Judge Artie Schwartz 7-3 and Judge Tony Rossi 6-4. The Associated Press card had it 6-3-1.

Delaney weighed 149½, Wilson 147.

At Eastern Parkway Arena in Brooklyn, Gil Turner dropped Joe Miceli among the has-beens with a TKO in 44 seconds of the eighth of a scheduled 10. Turner, a Philadelphia middleweight, may fight Gene Fullmer of Salt Lake City in the Parkway on April 4. His manager, George Katz, wants him to campaign strictly in the middleweight division from now on.

Referee Petey Scalzo stopped the bout when Micelo's left eye almost closed. Turner weighed 155½, Miceli 147.

Palsy, Heart Benefit Cage Doubleheader Scheduled Tonight

'JUST WATCH ME'—Charles J. Buckley, 8, has the right form, but he's still on the wrong side of the fence at Yankees' St. Petersburg, Fla., training camp. But the youngster hopes Johnny Neuen, New York coach, sees enough promise in him to wait a couple of years—and get up a bonus. (NEA).

Cops to Play Firemen; Kiwanis, Lions Battle

If the price of liniment doesn't go sky high Wednesday morning, it won't be for the lack of aches and pains of about 50 assorted ball players scheduled for action tonight at municipal auditorium in an extravaganza to benefit the Cerebral Palsy and Heart Fund drives.

Tonight's the time for the big return battle of the Police and Firemen quintets and another "spectacular" featinging the Kiwanis and Lions Clubs.

Game time is scheduled for 7:45 p. m. when the two service clubs will go at it. The Cops and Firemen will follow.

ALL FOUR MANAGERS have predicted victory tonight and with only four teams scheduled to show up at the auditorium that's going to be a difficult job.

Charlie Fabiano will make the important decisions in managing the Kiwanis Club and undoubtedly will use his complete squad, as long as they last, anyway.

Dr. Saul Goldfarb will handle the reigns for the Lions sharpies.

Perhaps it is ironic but the two team rosters comprise three doctors (one is a dentist) and one funeral home manager.

But be that as it may, if tonight's titular clash is anything like last year's event at the Kate Walton Field House, the fans will get more than their money's worth.

REMEMBERING ONLY too well last year's 52 to 49 defeat at the hands of the Firemen, Manager Bill Hanley has drilled his charges day in and day out with hopes of revenge.

"My boys look ready," Hanley predicted this morning and it looks as though we'll even the series at one game each."

Meanwhile, Clayton Stalter, who will do the master minding for the Firemen, refused to go along with Hanley's optimistic report.

"We beat them last year. I can see no different ending this time out.

Following are the reported rosters for the battle royal:

Kiwanis	Lions
George Rifenbary	Saul Goldfarb
Gus Brinnier	George Heddy
Lou Schafer	Hubert Richter
Jim Gilpatric	Andy Murphy, 3
Howard St. John	Jack Giligan
Dick Riseley	Harry Kapreliar

Durocher Sees Monte Irvin in HelpfulComeback

Phoenix, Ariz., March 8 (AP)—He looks "just great" says Manager Leo Durocher of the fellow he earlier tabbed the key to the puzzle of 1955 for the world champion New York Giants.

Perhaps Leo was being hopefully optimistic as he referred to Monte Irvin but most observers agreed the Giant left fielder was hitting the ball with more authority, than at this same time last year.

"I DID ABOUT everything wrong", said Monte of 1954. "I couldn't do anything right. The team won the championship without me."

But he added after yesterdays workout, "I'm hoping for a comeback. And I think I can do it."

Irvin, who in four previous seasons was .300 or above for the New Yorkers, says he's holding the bat higher and not striding so far this spring as he ties to regain the .300 swing. He hit only .264 last year.

Durocher says he's just returning to form:

"NOW HE'S hitting the way he used to," says Leo. "Last season he got to dropping the bat just before his swing. And his spirit is better, his attitude is better and there isn't the worry about the ankle."

Irvin slammed out a triple in the latest intra-squad game which impressed the local fans although Monte admits it's a little too early to tell much.

Canadian Champ Retains Title as Decision Changes

Toronto, March 8 (AP)—For a few uproarious minutes last night, James J. Parker thought he had won the Canadian heavyweight boxing championship. So did 6,500 fans.

Streaked with the blood of his opponent, Champion Earl Walls of Toronto, the towering 25-year-old challenger was announced as the new heavyweight king after a gory 12-round battle.

Moments later, the split decision was declared a draw with Walls retaining his crown in one of the greatest rhubarbs in Canadian boxing history.

RING ANNOUNCER Tommy McClure, after receiving the slips of the two judges and referee Billy Burke, announced it a split decision in favor of Parker, who now fights out of Paterson, N. J.

Soon afterwards Ontario Boxing Commissioner Merv MacKenzie dumbfounded Parker, his handlers and fans by pointing out an error in the interpretation of the judging and ordered the fight declared a draw, with Walls still the champion.

AS THE CROWD milled the ring and on the edge of the canvas, McClure grabbed the microphone and announced that the bout was a draw since one judge had called Walls the winner, the other had named Parker and the referee voted for a draw.

Judge Rony Canzano scored it in favor of Walls 57 points to 56. Dr. Les Black, the other judge, gave it to Parker 57½ to 56. Burke called it even, giving 50 points to each fighter.

McClure, a ring announcer in many fights, thought the fighter who got the most points was the winner, which in this case was Parker with 163½ against 163 for the 26-year-old champion.

Honolulu Woman Wins Jacksonville $5,000 Open Play

Jacksonville, Fla., March 8 (AP)—Jackie Pung, the Honolulu housewife, fired a par 72 yesterday to break a four-way tie and capture the $5,000 Jacksonville women's open golf tournament with a 72-hole total of 297.

Mary Lena Faulk, Patty Berg and Fay Crocker who had been deadlocked with Mrs. Pung at the start of the final round finished one stroke back.

Mrs. Pung's victory was worth $1,000.

Developing New Pitch

Tucson, Ariz., March 8 (AP)—Bob Feller is working on a new pitch and hopes to get into more than just a few games this year for the Cleveland Indians. "If I'm not quite as fast as I was," in 1936, he said yesterday, "I've made up for it by developing a sinker. I've learned to make 'em hit the ball on the ground and depend on the infield behind me. And I'm still working on a knuckler. Up to now I've used it mainly as a change-of-pace, but one of these days I'll get guys out with it. You wait and see."

Stengel Not Worried About Sain's Absence

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 8 (AP) — Veteran pitcher Johnny Sain still has not reported to the New York Yankees' camp, but Manager Casey Stengel is unconcerned about his absence.

"He trains himself and will be in good shape," Stengel says. The Yankees' front office knows the tobacco-chewing righthander is training in Arkansas when not selling cars.

Umphlett Tabbed As Leadoff Man

Orlando, Fla., March 8 (AP)—Manager Chuck Dressen has tabbed outfielder Tom Umphlett to replace Eddie Yost as leadoff man for Thursday's exhibition opener with the Boston Red Sox.

Dressen hopes a spot deeper in the batting order will lead to heavy payoff hitting by third baseman Yost.

Durocher Praises Williams' Playing

Phoenix, Ariz., March 8 (AP)—Davey Williams' sprightly play at second base for the New York Giants continues to draw words of praise from Manager Leo Durocher.

"He's got quick hands. Real quick. He works better with Alvin Dark now than Eddie Stanky did because Williams is quicker. I rate Dark and Williams with any double play combination in our league."

Williams participated in 112 double plays last season and his fielding was one of the vital factors in the Giants' pennant and World Series success.

Frick Would Legalize Spitter to Aid Pitchers

Clearwater, Fla., March 8 (AP)—Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick says something should be done to help pitchers and if he had his way "I'd legalize the old 'spitter'".

The commissioner dropped in on the Philadelphia Phillies' training camp yesterday "to line up six tickets" for an exhibition game Thursday.

HE TOOK the occasion to exchange views on the new "stopwatch" rule requiring pitchers to deliver the ball within 20 seconds after they step on the rubber (he thinks it will only put further restrictions on the pitchers) and financial prospects for the major leagues this season (he forecast a prosperous year).

The so-called "stop-watch" rule is designed to speed up the action and shorten the playing time, a matter of considerable discussion in recent years with ball games invariably dragging out past the two-hour mark.

"If the boys want to circumvent any rule, they can find ways and means of doing so," Frick said.

"BUT I DO think something positive should be done to help the pitchers. Why with this lively ball and everybody swinging, it's gotten so a pitcher's afraid to lay the ball in there.

"If I had my way, I'd legalize the old 'spitter.' It was a great pitch and one of the easiest to throw . . . there was nothing dangerous about it. Mostly, the ball dipped and did tricks—from a natural delivery. It was nothing like this screwball they have to throw today, with a twisted elbow and a tricky snapping of the wrists. No wonder today's pitchers can't go on as long."

Frick said he expected attendance to reach between seven and eight million in each of the major leagues this year. He also predicted close races, "especially in the National League."

Kellogg Receives Gift in Visit To Globetrotters

Little Rock, Ark., March 8 (AP)—Junius Kellogg, the former Harlem Globetrotter who was injured critically in an Arkansas automobile collision nearly a year ago, last night made his first public appearance since the accident.

Kellogg appeared at a Globetrotter game here and his former teammates gave him a radio as a gift. Kellogg was in a wheel chair. He is being treated at the Veterans' Administration Hospital here.

Kellogg blew the whistle on the basketball gambling scandal in 1950 while playing for Manhattan.

LaSalle Opens Defense Of Title Against W. Va.

(By The Associated Press)

LaSalle's Explorers, led by three-time All-America Tom Gola, open defense of their national intercollegiate basketball title tonight, meeting West Virginia's Southern Conference champions in one of eight preliminary games scheduled for four cities.

ACTUALLY, the NCAA tournament gets underway before the field of 24 is completed. The Ivy League, which ended in a three-way tie as Princeton defeated Brown 58-39 last night, will decide its representative at Rutgers Wednesday night when Columbia meets Princeton. Columbia eliminated Pennsylvania 73-71 in a game played after the Princeton-Brown contest.

LaSalle (22-4) and West Virginia (19-10) featuring colorful "Hot Rod" Hundley, wind up a triple header at New York's Madison Square Garden. Williams (17-1) New England representative, takes on Canisius (16-6) in the first game and Duke (20-7), runner-up to ineligible North Carolina State in the Atlantic Coast Conference, meets Villanova (16-9).

THE OTHER preliminary round games will be played at Lexington, Ky., El Reno, Okla., and San Francisco.

Marquette, which had the unique regular season record of losing its first and last games but winning 22 in between, takes on Miami of Ohio, (24-8) the mid-American champion at Lexington. The other game matches Penn State (17-8), third in last year's championship, and Memphis State (17-4).

San Francisco's Dons, the nation's No. 1 team with a 23-1 record and featuring all-American Bill Russell, swing into action against West Texas (15-7), Border Conference representative, at San Francisco. On the same card Idaho State (18-7), Rocky Mountain Conference titleholder, tackles Seattle (19-5).

THE LAST two at-large teams to be selected for the championship, Bradley (7-19) and Oklahoma City (9-17), battle it out at El Reno. Bradley was runner-up at LaSalle in the 1954 tournament.

This is how the winners will lineup for Friday's regional tournaments, with the winners to meet Saturday for the right to make the trip to Kansas City for the final rounds on March 18-19:

At Philadelphia—Ivy League champion Princeton (12-19) or Columbia (17-7) vs. LaSalle-West Virginia winner and Williams-Canisius winner vs. Duke-Villanova winner.

At Evanston—Kentucky ((22-2), Southeastern Conference champion, vs. Miami-Marquette winner and Iowa (17-5), Big Ten Titlist, vs. Penn State-Memphis State winner. Iowa wound up its season last night with a defeat, falling before Michigan 74-58.

At Manhattan—Southern Methodist (16-7), Southwest Conference champion, vs. Bradley-Oklahoma City winner and Colorado (16-9) Big Seven King, vs. Tulsa (20-6) selected to represent the Missouri Valley after tying St. Louis.

At Corvallis—Oregon State (21-7), Pacific Coast Conference champion, vs. Idaho State Seattle winner and Utah (23-3), best in the Skyline Conference, takes on the West Texas-San Francisco winner.

San Francisco — Dave Whitlock, 179½, San Francisco, drew with Howard King, 186½, Reno, Nev., 10.

St. Francis Quintet Out After Title in Basketball for East

Kansas City, March 8 (AP) — The east, which has failed to come up with a champion in the past 16 national intercollegiate (NAIA) basketball tournaments sends highly regarded St. Francis of Brooklyn in quest of its first title today.

The St. Francis Terriers, who have knocked off such teams as City College of New York, Seton Hall and Siena in regular season play, meet Quincy, Ill., College in their first round start (12:30 p. m. CST).

St. Francis has a 16-8 record. Quincy has won 16 and lost 8.

Play followed script in the opening set of eight games yesterday except for one case where Southwestern of Winfield, Kas., upset Loyola of Los Angeles, 83-79.

In regular season play Loyola, a seeded team, beat such schools as Santa Clara and Southern California. Southwestern, with an enrollment of about 400, is one of the smallest colleges entered in the six-day tournament.

Today's schedule:

Louisiana Tech vs. Coe (Iowa), St. Francis vs. Quincy, Geneva (Pa.) vs. Nebraska Wesleyan, Atlantic Christian vs. Evansville (Ind.), Middle Tennessee vs. Southeastern Oklahoma, Western Illinois vs. Regis, Kirksville (Mo.) vs. Georgetown (Ky.), New Haven (Conn.) vs. Arkansas Tech.

Dons Keep Top Spot InCollegeCageVoting

(By The Associated Press)

The San Francisco Dons, leader in the Associated Press poll of college basketball powers for the last four weeks, remained in the No. 1 spot today after a close ballot duel with Kentucky.

With San Francisco, Kentucky and other teams headed into tournament play, the final regular season poll of the nation's sports writers and sportscasters brought out a heavy vote with the Dons and Wildcats winning a big majority of the support.

A total of 171 votes were cast, San Francisco receiving 67 for first place and Kentucky—which finished the 1954 season as No. 1—collecting 58.

THE LEADING ten teams with first place votes and won-lost records through Saturday in parentheses (points on 10, 9, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2, 1 basis):

1.	San Francisco (67) (23-1)	1424

Nationals, Boys Club Are Victors

Victors in the doubleheader of the Junior Division of the Kingston Recreation Department League, Monday night, were the Nationals and Boys Club.

The Nationals defeated the Madden TV Club 54-28, and the Boys Club outshot the Flashers 45-31.

Perpetua and Taylor tallied 12 and 11 for the Boys Club, McDonough 15 for the losing Flashes.

Hundreds Flee Ohio River Flood

Cincinnati, March 8 (AP)—The hump of the flooding Ohio river moved slowly downstream today, forcing hundreds of families and businesses from shore areas.

It left a wake of heavy property damage as it spilled out along its natural borderline separating Ohio, West Virginia, Kentucky and Indiana.

An estimated 2,600 families were affected. In Ohio alone, some 900 families fled shore area homes.

THE WEATHER Bureau at Cincinnati called it a "major flood" because more than two-thirds of the 98-mile river was at least five feet over flood stage.

The American Red Cross said for the purpose of providing shelter, food and clothes to flood victims the situation is of "disaster" proportions.

Col. J. L. Person, the Ohio river engineer, said no accurate estimate of damage could be made until reliable reports were filed. But he thought the figure would run to several million dollars.

THE RIVER CRESTED early today at Gallipolis about 7 feet above the flood stage of 50 feet. Downstream at Cincinnati the water will crest at 61 feet Thursday morning, 9 feet above flood stage. This will be the highest mark in seven years. The Ohio reached 64.8 feet on April 18, 1948, here.

Col. Person said that while the damage was substantial in scattered areas he foresaw no catastrophe.

However, he noted the river today is at about the same level it was in the early stages of the great flood of 1937. The river at Cincinnati then rose to 80 feet.

The Weather Bureau reported no rain in sight which would swell the river further.

Dog Poisoned

Patrolman Julius Glassman of the Kingston Police Department reported Monday afternoon that his dog, a springer spaniel, had been poisoned. The dog had been away from home a short time and on his return took a drink of water and suddenly became violently ill, Officer Glassman said. He took the animal to a veterinarian, who said after examination that it was a definite case of poison. The dog is expected to recover.

the heavy load carried by Burhans at present and the possibilities for relieving this burden through small additional county appropriation supplemented by state aid.

SMITH SAID he felt the state aid program merited appraisal and approval.

He explained that counties in the northern part of the state had much larger staffs than Ulster county. After studying the local problem, he said, he had reached the conclusion that Ulster county needed a staff of three probation officers.

Matthews told the meeting that juvenile delinquency had many causes, the most important of which was probably the broken home or the home in which the parents were not mature enough. Some parents turn affection on and off like hot and cold water, he said.

He also listed as causes such things as wrong associations, too much idle time, breakdown of moral and religious training, inadequate playground facilities and supervised recreation, etc.

MATTHEWS POINTED out that of crimes committed in 1953, according to the FBI, 53.6 per cent of car thefts, 49 per cent of burglaries, 18 per cent of the robberies and 16.2 per cent of rape were committed by the youngsters under 10. To keep a youthful offender in a penal institution for a year cost an average of $1,636, he said, pointing out that if three children could be saved a year it would more than pay the salary of the chief probation officer.

He called attention to the cramped facilities of the probation office and the embarrassment of the child who had to "bare his soul" in a room filled with people. He said he would like to see additional psychiatric service in the county and a curfew to keep children off the streets at night. Such a curfew is working effectively in East Hartford, Conn., he said. It makes parents responsible for the actions of their children, he pointed out.

HE URGED MEMBERS of the audience to press for additional probation service in the country, to "put the heat on" the board of supervisors and let the board know that an increase in taxes for such purpose would be an act of wisdom.

In introducing Edson, assistant director of recreation in Kingston, St. John said there was "no one younger in heart." The moderator pointed out that Edson had long been interested in the youth of the community and had devoted much of his time and money to the welfare of younger people.

Edson pointed out that he felt a probation department was important and he favored adequate probation facilities but he emphasized the importance of "mental health" in the prevention of delinquency.

"What's the use in waiting for the child to get into trouble before doing anything?"

EDSON POINTED OUT also that the child handicapped in some way, for instance in school work, was a potential delinquent. The problem should be met at the pre-delinquent level, he said.

During the question and answer period Smith defined the difference between parole and probation, explaining that parole was a release from prison with the elapse of a certain minimum period, whereas probation was a condition in which the offender was not jailed but returned to the community under the supervision of a probation officer. The object of probation is to rehabilitate the offender and protect the community.

A DIVISION of opinion appeared to arise over the desirability of a separate youth court. At present the county judge also handles youthful offenders.

Matthews said he opposed it, felt "we have too many courts." He cited lack of space as an additional deterrent.

St. John said he felt a person able to devote his full time to a youth court would be able to accomplish much more than an arrangement combining the functions of a county court and a youth court. He called attention also to the importance of dispatch in handling children's cases, pointing out that they could be handled much more quickly if separate facilities existed.

ST. JOHN pointed out that under the present Youthful Offender's Statute no permanent record "followed" a youth between 16 and 19 who had committed an offense. If he should be asked if he had ever committed a crime he could answer truthfully in the negative.

Applause greeted the following question: Do you believe that putting discipline back into the schools will help to any extent? St. John asked Superintendent of Schools Arthur J. Laidlaw if he would care to answer this question.

Laidlaw said he would like to make a few observations that might have a bearing on the question.

HE SAID the problem was essentially one of home and parent. Sixty per cent of both parents of children in Kingston schools are working, he said. They leave home before the children and return home after the children in the afternoon, leaving the children for a certain period of time without supervision.

Sometimes the parent is paid and spends his salary in a tavern before he can reach home, Laidlaw said. Such behavior in the home enviroment encourage juvenile delinquency.

He said that in 16 years "we have never yet gotten a case into the courts for truancy," calling attention to the difficulty in holding parents responsible in court.

In speaking of progressive education he said boys and girls "must be made to measure up" and a certain respect for authority demanded.

Smith said in answer to a question that approximately 70 per cent of those on probation were rehabilitated and 30 per cent were repeaters.

Home Bureau

THE HURLEY Home Bureau will meet Thursday at 1:30 p. m. in the Hurley Reformed Church. Mrs. Helen Stantial will give a lesson on Low Calorie Refreshments.

THE ULSTER COUNTY Home Bureau Council of Chairmen meeting was held on Monday at the First Baptist Church Hall on Albany avenue in Kingston.

Margaret KeepsMum About Love

London, March 8 (AP)—Princess Margaret told Britons today she is happy to be home from her calyspo tour of the Caribbean, eventful though it was.

But in her appearance at the Mansion House, as a luncheon guest of the City of London, she made no allusion to the prime topic of the day—rumors that she will marry RAF Group Capt. Peter Townsend, 40-year-old former equerry at Buckingham Palace.

Instead she spoke warmly of the "friendly and most loyal peoples . . . waving fields of sugar cane and deep blue water beyond the coral sands" in the British West Indian islands she visited on a five-week official tour. She returned last week.

MARGARET GOT a hearty welcome from many thousands who applauded her as she rode in a royal car from her home, Clarence House, to the residence of Lord Mayor Sir Seymour Howard.

Spectators took a fresh and lively interest in the Princess because of the widely published reports that, after she becomes 25 next Aug. 21, she may renounce her third place in succession to the throne to become the bride of Townsend, a divorced man who is British air attache at Brussels.

If the gossip was disturbing the young princess, there was no sign of any concern in her ready smile.

Wearing a full length mink coat over a pink dress and a shell pink and black half-turban hat, Margaret stood for two minutes in nippy air with the Lord Mayor on a Mansion House balcony.

THE PRINCESS waved and smiled gaily. Then the lord mayor stepped forward and shouted:

"Let's give three cheers for her royal highness."

The crowd gave three lusty cheers.

Then the princess, carrying a bouquet of roses, carnations and lilies of the valley, accompanied the lord mayor into the house for the luncheon attended by the sheriffs, aldermen and other dignitaries of the city of London.

In one of her rare speeches, which was broadcast, the princess expressed thanks for the welcome.

"I HAVE BEEN deeply touched since my return by the many expressions of good wishes I have received," she said. "It is always a delight to be home again after a long journey and I am very happy to be here in London today."

In proposing the princess' health the lord mayor significantly observed that the royal family is actuated by a keen sense of duty.

In her response the princess spoke feelingly of the deep impression made on her by the colorful West Indian islands and the warmth of West Indian hearts.

Talk of attachment between the princess and Townsend has been common in Britain since 1953. Shortly after the talk developed, Townsend was shifted from his Buckingham Palace job to the air attache's post in Belgium.

The conservative daily sketch today described recent newspaper speculation that the princess will marry the divorced royal air force veteran as "un-British."

ANNOUNCEMENT EXPECTED — The London Daily Mirror reports that Group Capt. Peter Townsend has been expecting a public announcement concerning himself and Princess Margaret. The Mirror carried reports that the Princess was deciding now whether to renounce her rights to the British throne to marry Townsend. The couple are shown above during Margaret's visit to South Africa in 1947. (NEA Telephoto).

Hundreds Flee Ohio River Flood

Cincinnati, March 8 (AP)—The hump of the flooding Ohio river moved slowly downstream today, forcing hundreds of families and businesses from shore areas.

It left a wake of heavy property damage as it spilled out along its natural borderline separating Ohio, West Virginia, Kentucky and Indiana.

An estimated 2,600 families were affected. In Ohio alone, some 900 families fled shore area homes.

THE WEATHER Bureau at Cincinnati called it a "major flood" because more than two-thirds of the 98-mile river was at least five feet over flood stage.

The American Red Cross said for the purpose of providing shelter, food and clothes to flood victims the situation is of "disaster" proportions.

Col. J. L. Person, the Ohio river engineer, said no accurate estimate of damage could be made until reliable reports were filed. But he thought the figure would run to several million dollars.

THE RIVER CRESTED early today at Gallipolis about 7 feet above the flood stage of 50 feet. Downstream at Cincinnati the water will crest at 61 feet Thursday morning, 9 feet above flood stage. This will be the highest mark in seven years. The Ohio reached 64.8 feet on April 18, 1948, here.

Col. Person said that while the damage was substantial in scattered areas he foresaw no catastrophe.

However, he noted the river today is at about the same level it was in the early stages of the great flood of 1937. The river at Cincinnati then rose to 80 feet.

The Weather Bureau reported no rain in sight which would swell the river further.

Dog Poisoned

Patrolman Julius Glassman of the Kingston Police Department reported Monday afternoon that his dog, a springer spaniel, had been poisoned. The dog had been away from home a short time and on his return took a drink of water and suddenly became violently ill, Officer Glassman said. He took the animal to a veterinarian, who said after examination that it was a definite case of poison. The dog is expected to recover.

the heavy load carried by Burhans at present and the possibilities for relieving this burden through small additional county appropriation supplemented by state aid.

SMITH SAID he felt the state aid program merited appraisal and approval.

He explained that counties in the northern part of the state had much larger staffs than Ulster county. After studying the local problem, he said, he had reached the conclusion that Ulster county needed a staff of three probation officers.

Matthews told the meeting that juvenile delinquency had many causes, the most important of which was probably the broken home or the home in which the parents were not mature enough. Some parents turn affection on and off like hot and cold water, he said.

He also listed as causes such things as wrong associations, too much idle time, breakdown of moral and religious training, inadequate playground facilities and supervised recreation, etc.

MATTHEWS POINTED out that of crimes committed in 1953, according to the FBI, 53.6 per cent of car thefts, 49 per cent of burglaries, 18 per cent of the robberies and 16.2 per cent of rape were committed by the youngsters under 10. To keep a youthful offender in a penal institution for a year cost an average of $1,636, he said, pointing out that if three children could be saved a year it would more than pay the salary of the chief probation officer.

He called attention to the cramped facilities of the probation office and the embarrassment of the child who had to "bare his soul" in a room filled with people. He said he would like to see additional psychiatric service in the county and a curfew to keep children off the streets at night. Such a curfew is working effectively in East Hartford, Conn., he said. It makes parents responsible for the actions of their children, he pointed out.

HE URGED MEMBERS of the audience to press for additional probation service in the country, to "put the heat on" the board of supervisors and let the board know that an increase in taxes for such purpose would be an act of wisdom.

In introducing Edson, assistant director of recreation in Kingston, St. John said there was "no one younger in heart." The moderator pointed out that Edson had long been interested in the youth of the community and had devoted much of his time and money to the welfare of younger people.

Edson pointed out that he felt a probation department was important and he favored adequate probation facilities but he emphasized the importance of "mental health" in the prevention of delinquency.

"What's the use in waiting for the child to get into trouble before doing anything?"

EDSON POINTED OUT also that the child handicapped in some way, for instance in school work, was a potential delinquent. The problem should be met at the pre-delinquent level, he said.

During the question and answer period Smith defined the difference between parole and probation, explaining that parole was a release from prison with the elapse of a certain minimum period, whereas probation was a condition in which the offender was not jailed but returned to the community under the supervision of a probation officer. The object of probation is to rehabilitate the offender and protect the community.

A DIVISION of opinion appeared to arise over the desirability of a separate youth court. At present the county judge also handles youthful offenders.

Matthews said he opposed it, felt "we have too many courts." He cited lack of space as an additional deterrent.

St. John said he felt a person able to devote his full time to a youth court would be able to accomplish much more than an arrangement combining the functions of a county court and a youth court. He called attention also to the importance of dispatch in handling children's cases, pointing out that they could be handled much more quickly if separate facilities existed.

ST. JOHN pointed out that under the present Youthful Offender's Statute no permanent record "followed" a youth between 16 and 19 who had committed an offense. If he should be asked if he had ever committed a crime he could answer truthfully in the negative.

Applause greeted the following question: Do you believe that putting discipline back into the schools will help to any extent? St. John asked Superintendent of Schools Arthur J. Laidlaw if he would care to answer this question.

Laidlaw said he would like to make a few observations that might have a bearing on the question.

HE SAID the problem was essentially one of home and parent. Sixty per cent of both parents of children in Kingston schools are working, he said. They leave home before the children and return home after the children in the afternoon, leaving the children for a certain period of time without supervision.

Sometimes the parent is paid and spends his salary in a tavern before he can reach home, Laidlaw said. Such behavior in the home enviroment encourage juvenile delinquency.

He said that in 16 years "we have never yet gotten a case into the courts for truancy," calling attention to the difficulty in holding parents responsible in court.

In speaking of progressive education he said boys and girls "must be made to measure up" and a certain respect for authority demanded.

Smith said in answer to a question that approximately 70 per cent of those on probation were rehabilitated and 30 per cent were repeaters.

Margaret Keeps Mum About Love

London, March 8 (AP)—Princess Margaret told Britons today she is happy to be home from her calyspo tour of the Caribbean, eventful though it was.

But in her appearance at the Mansion House, as a luncheon guest of the City of London, she made no allusion to the prime topic of the day—rumors that she will marry RAF Group Capt. Peter Townsend, 40-year-old former equerry at Buckingham Palace.

Instead she spoke warmly of the "friendly and most loyal peoples . . . waving fields of sugar cane and deep blue water beyond the coral sands" in the British West Indian islands she visited on a five-week official tour. She returned last week.

MARGARET GOT a hearty welcome from many thousands who applauded her as she rode in a royal car from her home, Clarence House, to the residence of Lord Mayor Sir Seymour Howard.

Spectators took a fresh and lively interest in the Princess because of the widely published reports that, after she becomes 25 next Aug. 21, she may renounce her third place in succession to the throne to become the bride of Townsend, a divorced man who is British air attache at Brussels.

If the gossip was disturbing the young princess, there was no sign of any concern in her ready smile.

Wearing a full length mink coat over a pink dress and a shell pink and black half-turban hat, Margaret stood for two minutes in nippy air with the Lord Mayor on a Mansion House balcony.

THE PRINCESS waved and smiled gaily. Then the lord mayor stepped forward and shouted:

"Let's give three cheers for her royal highness."

The crowd gave three lusty cheers.

Then the princess, carrying a bouquet of roses, carnations and lilies of the valley, accompanied the lord mayor into the house for the luncheon attended by the sheriffs, aldermen and other dignitaries of the city of London.

In one of her rare speeches, which was broadcast, the princess expressed thanks for the welcome.

"I HAVE BEEN deeply touched since my return by the many expressions of good wishes I have received," she said. "It is always a delight to be home again after a long journey and I am very happy to be here in London today."

In proposing the princess' health the lord mayor significantly observed that the royal family is actuated by a keen sense of duty.

In her response the princess spoke feelingly of the deep impression made on her by the colorful West Indian islands and the warmth of West Indian hearts.

Talk of attachment between the princess and Townsend has been common in Britain since 1953. Shortly after the talk developed, Townsend was shifted from his Buckingham Palace job to the air attache's post in Belgium.

The conservative daily sketch today described recent newspaper speculation that the princess will marry the divorced royal air force veteran as "un-British."

ANNOUNCEMENT EXPECTED — The London Daily Mirror reports that Group Capt. Peter Townsend has been expecting a public announcement concerning himself and Princess Margaret. The Mirror carried reports that the Princess was deciding now whether to renounce her rights to the British throne to marry Townsend. The couple are shown above during Margaret's visit to South Africa in 1947. (NEA Telephoto).
